Cutback in usage of natural gas is begun

Illinois Power Company said Friday afternoon that while it is still in position to serve natural gas to all its firm customers, it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission a petition to allow the company to curtail natural gas service to large commercial and industrial customers if necessary.

C. W. Wells, executive vice president, stressed that the filing is "precautionary" only. He added that gas being used for public health, safety, or education is specifically exempted in the request to the commission.

Concurrently, the company launched an intensive public information program to urge all gas customers to "conserve gas today so we'll have enough tomorrow."

Illinois Power has been able through its pipeline supplies and its eight underground storage fields to maintain service to all firm customers, including factories and schools, without interruption through the extraordinary cold weather of the last two weeks.

"We want to keep it that way," Wells said. "The system is still sound, but it has undergone a terrific drain."

"There is more cold weather ahead, and we don't want to reach the breaking point."

"Response thus far has been excellent. Our largest industrial customers were told of the conservation drive Thursday morning, and by noon had begun measures to cut back.

"If we get the same cooperation from residential and commercial customers, we are well on the way to success. And success means we can preserve service and the jobs it supplies."

Many of the industrial companies have asked their employees to cut back on use at home.

Residential conservation is extremely important, Wells said, adding that "we can all help." Temperatures have been reduced in all Illinois Power Company buildings, and employees are being urged to wear sweaters at work.

A list of suggestions on ways to conserve gas is being included in bills sent out by the company. These proposals are made:

"Raise the humidity in your home by using a humidifier or by setting containers of water on warm air registers or radiators. Lower temperatures are more comfortable when humidity is high."

"If you have a forced warm-air heating system, check filters frequently. Clogged, dirty filters prevent free flow of clean air, and increase gas usage. Also, lubricate the fan and motor bearings once a year."

"If you have a hot water system, oil the bearings of the circulating pump once a year. Also, it may be necessary to drain the expansion tank from time to time."

"Radiators should be vented from time to time to keep them (Continued on Page 3)

NOW IN PRACTICE. After efforts that ran into years of hard work by many people, including Mrs. Margaret Lee and Mayor William M. Ebersoldt, the services of a physician in Venice became a reality last week. Dr. (Mrs.) Corazon Estrada, MD, St. Louis, opens her practice in the building formerly occupied by Dr. Jacob Chalfin on the corner of Oriole Street and Broadway. Appointments may be made from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. during the week. (Press-Record Photo)

Illinoisans among inaugural throng

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Illinoisans fled the frigid prairie for the relative balminess of the nation's capital on Thursday to see new President Jimmy Carter take the oath of office.

The worst winter in 37 years is being experienced in the Quad-City area and elsewhere in Illinois, and the inauguration of the Georgia Democrat provided a timely excuse to head to the East Coast.

If President Carter, the great commoner, put some very social noses out of joint in Washington with his folksy inaugural, the Illinoisans cared less.

Mr. Carter's "y'all come" invitations mustered nearly a half-million people for the five days billed as a "simple and modest" transfer of power from a veteran of the Washington scene to a peanut farmer and former governor.

Some local bluestocks sniffed disdainfully in print that this "people's inaugural" was a bit beyond their ken—not quite like the mourned Camelot of John F. Kennedy or even the imperial ascendancy of Richard M. Nixon.

Fireworks! Ten thousand people square dancing! A balloon shaped like a peanut! Well, did you ever?

Yep, says Barty! Tirana, who helped stage Carter's inaugural. That's the way it was supposed to be—more for the average Joe than the mighty pooh bahs.

Illinoisans arrived by plane and Presley tour buses.

Those who drove, with the errant jet stream threatening all kinds of dire Arctic weather,

Explorer expansion

A new Explorer task force of adult leaders will be contacting area labor unions, professional groups, institutions and business firms within the next few weeks to interest them in sponsoring additional Explorer posts in the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"Operation 12th Hour" was launched last week at a dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant, hosted by Charles Hester, project co-chairman and owner of the restaurant.

"I want to thank all of you for coming out on a night such as this to help further the Explorer program in our area," Hester commented in welcoming the group.

"With all of us doing our part we can affect, in a positive way, the lives of literally hundreds of young people," he stated. Hester invited task force members to return "in a couple of months and tell about our success stories and the new Explorer units we help to organize."

Charles W. Chapman, a local attorney and project co-chairman, also extended a welcome and commented, "We are all familiar with the Explorer program in various degrees and expertise, but we are here to learn more."

He said newly developed material is now available to task force members to aid teams "establish a solid framework for new posts."

Weather outlook for this region

Partial clearing today with high in mid-30s. Increasing cloudiness and colder tonight. Low in mid or upper teens. Sunny Tuesday with high in the 30s. Wednesday through Friday clear to partly cloudy but turning very cold Thursday and Friday. Highs in the teens and lows near 0.

WOOLLY WORMS WERE RIGHT. Area weather experts may have doubted the prediction of a simple woolly bear caterpillar at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, but its warning of bitterly cold weather proved correct. According to Mrs. Helen Wohlschlagler of High Ridge, Mo., black woolly worms mean a long, hard winter in coming. If the weather of the past few weeks is any indication, the educated woolly worms at SIUE were right for putting on their heavy fur coats and students will continue to bundle up until the spring thaw hits the campus.

Steel union biggest, leaders able—Davis

Would United Steelworkers in this area or across the nation turn against the union leadership? New District Director Buddy W. Davis doesn't think so, and he is busy this month outlining why.

Davis, a Steelworkers staff representative working out of the Granite City office, is the successful candidate for district director to succeed Lloyd McBride, who seeks the international presidency in balloting Feb. 8.

I. W. Abel, retiring Steelworkers president, is backing McBride. Edward Sadiowski, Chicago district director, is campaigning for the presidency by assailing the record of Abel and the proposals of McBride.

Davis, 46, of Wood River, won the top District 34 position when he was nominated by 182 local unions and when Henry Dale of New Madrid, Mo., won (Continued on Page 3)

Sewer grant is extended

The Madison County Special Sewer Committee announced this morning that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has pledged to keep a $12.5 million grant for new sanitary sewers available to the county until after current litigation against the project is resolved.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the committee attempting to construct new sanitary sewers for Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, made the announcement this morning, upon returning from Springfield where he and others involved in the project met with EPA officials.

Sparks, committee member Louis Whitsell, Edward Juneau, project engineer; the committee's attorney, Harry Hartman, and George Dyckman, one of those filing suit to halt the project, all met with the EPA grant officials Friday to discuss the project. That meeting was to have been held today, but was moved to Friday due to schedule conflicts, Sparks said.

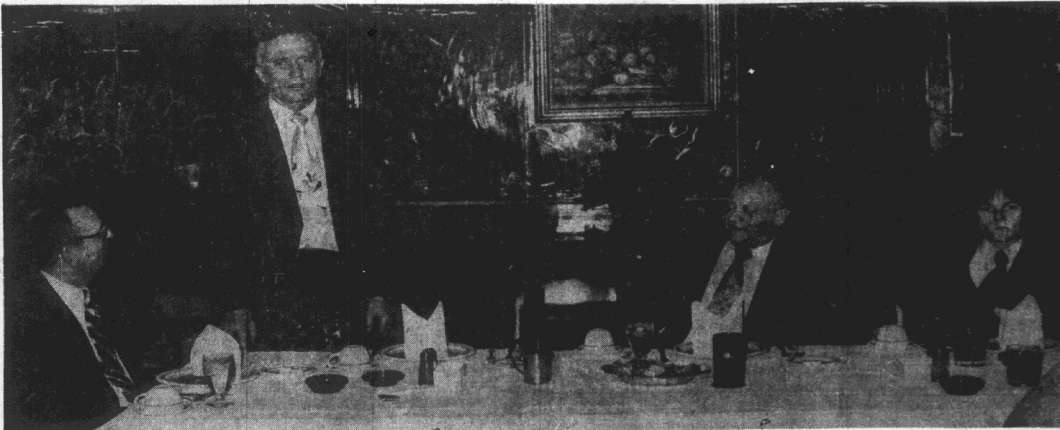

He also related that the EPA warned the amount of the grant cannot be increased, even if the cost of the project increases with the delay caused by the pending litigation.

The only way the grant can be increased is if the Illinois legislature appropriates more funds for the next fiscal year for new sewers; at which time an application for additional funds for Madison County could be considered.

It is estimated the $12.5 million grant now offered would pay about three-fourths of the cost of basic construction of collector and interceptor sewers through Nameoki and Chouteau townships. A small portion of Venice Township also would be served.

A lawsuit attempting to block financing of the project was dismissed in Circuit Court, but has been appealed by Attorney Joseph Hill to the Illinois Supreme Court.

A delay of several months is anticipated and contractors who bid on the construction (Continued on Page 4)

More interest in ferns

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Advisor on Ornamental Horticulture
Ferns are enjoying a revival as one of our most popular house plants. Ferns probably do more to create a woody feeling indoors than any other plant.

There are nearly 12,000 species of ferns. Only a few make good house plants, but we are fortunate that in these few there is much variety.

One of the best is Boston Fern. It produces long graceful fronds (leaves) that cascade over the pot.

New varieties of Boston Fern include Fluffy Ruffles, Whitman, Verona, and Norwood. Generally, these smaller, fancier types are not quite as tough as the original plant.

Another interesting fern is the Holly Fern. It has dark green glossy leaves with leaflets that look like a leaf of English holly. Like many other ferns, it prefers a cool house temperature.

The Bird's Nest Fern makes a striking and unique house plant. Its fronds are not divided, as are the leaves of most ferns. The fronds are large and light green with a black midvein. Leaves develop from a circle at the base, forming a symmetrical "nest."

Button Ferns and Maiden Hair Ferns do well as terrarium ferns because of their relatively small size and small leaves. Button Ferns and Maiden Hair Ferns both prefer warm temperatures and high humidity.

Rabbit's Foot Fern is well adapted to sphagnum-moss hanging baskets. The hairy rhizomes creeping over the top of the pot and down the side prompt the name, Rabbit's Foot.

It is somewhat upright in growth compared to the arching or weeping nature of Boston Fern.

If you are successful with ferns, add a new fern to your collection every few months. They will open up a new dimension in house plants.

Sandra Parker becomes Mrs. Ronald Hutchings

St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Jan. 14, of Miss Sandra Lee Parker, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Larkin, 11 St. Paul St., and Ronald "Buz" Hutchings, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hutchings, 3233 Carlson Ave.

Father Edward Groesch performed a double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a long off white gown complemented with matching accessories and a nose tip veil held in place by a halo headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of white and pink roses centered with a white orchid detachable corsage.

Mrs. Marilyn Lombardi Price served as matron of honor and Anthony Vesce attended the groom as best man.

Mrs. Price chose a melon colored long dress accented with off white lace trim and matching accessories. She held an arrangement of colored daisies.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet dinner and reception was held at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville, followed by dancing.

Mrs. Larkin, mother of the bride, appeared in a formal length aqua peau de soie gown worn with silver accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Hutchings, selected a floor length rose color dress with gold accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages with accents in hues to match their attire.

The newly married couple are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Florida. Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School and the groom is owner of Superior Auto Body.

Randy Van Gilder party honoree

Randy Van Gilder, a mid-term graduate from Granite City High School South, was guest of honor at a party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Van Gilder in their home, 2229 Lincoln Ave., last week.

The gift table was centered with a cake decorated in red and black in keeping with the school colors.

After the honoree opened his gifts refreshments were served by the hosts.

Guests attending included Janice Van Gilder, John Lake, Patty Hardesty, Steven Mudd, Mickey Frazier, Dennis Greathouse, Vicky, Linda and Larry Welty, Frank Fleming, Scott Lindsey, Jim White, Raymond Ramirez and Mr. and Mrs. Liburn Mudd.

Society initiates program

The Downtown neighborhood Restoration Society area has been designated as a target area by Mayor Paul Schuler and the Madison County Community Development Commission has accepted the area for a target program for re-development, according to Mrs. Judy Padgett, DNRS president.

Property which is vacant, badly deteriorated, condemned or declared unfit for occupancy will be brought up to standard living conditions and returned to the market for sale through a plan and grant from HUD, the president added.

Members approved the plan and authorized the committee to continue with a program in conjunction with the city and county officials in the undertaking.

Mrs. Padgett accorded special thanks to Mayor Schuler, Mayor Kase, Carl Kettel, Gene Gunderson, Jack French and Walt Padgett, for their efforts to initiate and carry the plan forward. This will perhaps be the biggest and most important project undertaken by the DNRS and one which the members and community will be able to take pride in, Mrs. Padgett said.

Other topics discussed during the meeting were the five homes and one church to be included in the Spring House Tour, sponsored by the group. Mrs. Padgett said she had received a letter from the Illinois Bureau of Tourism, listing the local house tour in its booklet, "Things To Do In Illinois This Year."

Darrell Douglas and Pat Murphy were named co-chairmen of a technical committee, to record persons and firms doing satisfactory and reasonable service in respective fields, enabling each member to know who to contact for repair service instead of shopping around for a good company.

David Hug, chairman of the tool pool, advised all members he needs a list of available tools to be used by the group and especially the new members.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Jan) Harmon, 2323 Cleveland Blvd., hosted the first meeting of this year. The next session is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Feb. 11, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bergschneider, 2327 Edison Ave.

Lynnette M. Bailey and Kevin H. Joyce are wed

Miss Lynnette Marie Bailey, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Bailey, 3227 Madison Ave., became the bride of Kevin Harold Joyce, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Joyce, 10 Mercer Drive, Friday evening at the Gospel Assembly Church, 13100 Teasden Ferry Road, St. Louis.

A bridal arch decorated with greenery and sprigs of lily of the valley flowers and burning tapers in branched candelabras provided the setting for the double ring ceremony at 7:30 by the Rev. J. W. Irwin.

Prior to the arrival of the wedding party Davis and Aliene Moore sang "Submission" and Crede Eders, The Lord's Prayer accompanied by Ruth Weatherington at the piano.

After the wedding, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown, fashioned of white nylon and designed with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves accented with decorative rows of lace.

Her floor length skirt fell softly to create a chapel train which was scalloped edged and trimmed with matching lace. She wore a pearl etched cap to secure a finger-tip veil of bridal illusion and she carried a cascade of roses and greenery festooned with love knot streamers.

Matron of honor Mrs. John A. Motton, a sister of the bride and Miss Denise A. Kitzmiller, bridesmaid, chose identical formal length gowns created with royal blue velvet bodices, long sleeves and full skirts fashioned of sky blue sheer organza over blue satin.

The high necklines and Empire waistlines were embroidered with a daisy trim.

They held nosegays of blue and white carnations, pom poms and baby's breath.

Attending the groom as best man was the Rev. Harlan Keel. Mike Johnson, a brother-in-law of the groom, served as groomsman and Lehmon Hall and John Motton, seated guests. Candelighers were Mike and Phil Green.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall. The rehearsal dinner was also served in the church dining room on Thursday evening.

After a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the newly married couple will reside in Granite City.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bailey selected a long Emerald green princess style gown complemented with gold accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Joyce, wore a beige and yellow striped knit dress. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School. The bride is employed as a medical assistant for Dr. Rosalyn Lapey and the groom works as a salesman for Franklin Life Insurance Co.

State meet topic of Bethel

Miss Kim Rapp, honored guest of Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, led a discussion on members attending the Illinois Grand Session of the International Order of Job's Daughters, scheduled for April 28 through April 30, in Chicago.

The local Bethel 43 Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Sara Metcalf, will enter the state choir competition during the weekend meeting. Mrs. Rapp added.

Mary Lou Metcalf, librarian, read a poem entitled, "One True Friend—A Real Treasure" during the meeting.

The queen announced the junior line officers will assume the stations of the regular officers at the next meeting Tuesday night. They will dress in keeping with the 1959's in conjunction with the theme for the evening "50's Night."

After the meeting refreshments were served to 43 members and parents.

The 36,000-member district includes Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Southern Illinois. Under Steelworker bylaws, a candidate without opposition is automatically elected without balloting taking place.

A past president of Local 3643 in Alton, where he and McBride still are members, Davis has been a leader in the AFL-CIO Committee on political Education.

He commented to the Press-Record today, "I have been a dues-paying member of the Steelworkers Union for over 26 years and, like most Steelworkers, I have always had a great deal of pride in my union."

"We have been blessed with great leadership through the years — leaders who have been responsible men of high integrity whose entire adult lives were devoted to improving wages, hours and working conditions for workers and, yet, had the intelligence to also be concerned about the welfare of all citizens of this great nation."

"Due in large part to the caliber of this leadership, the Steelworkers union has grown to the point of being the largest union in the AFL-CIO."

"Members of our union in the basic steel, can, aluminum and other industries are among the highest-paid industrial workers in America with excellent pension, insurance and vacation benefits."

"The improvements in these important areas in the last 12 years has been astounding."

"We owe people like I. W. Abel and Lloyd McBride a deep debt of gratitude for these many gains."

"Those of us who work and live in this area know Lloyd McBride and we know he will be a great president."

"We now have the rare opportunity to elect a man we know, and who knows us, to the high office of president of the 1.4-million member United Steelworkers of America," Davis concluded.

Sunday snow 3.6 inches

Another 3.6 inches of snow fell in the Quad-City area Sunday, bringing to 22.7 inches the total amount of snow fall so far this winter, most of it in January. The new snow fall began early Sunday and continued throughout the day, ending in the late evening hours.

The snow again slowed traffic to a crawl, although warmer than usual temperatures caused thawing on highways where snow plows had removed much of the snow and most highways were in good condition for the morning rush hours today.

Side streets remained hazardous, however, and motorists were urged to use caution in off-the-highway travel.

Car overturns

Miss Sharon Busch, 22, Wood River, an employee of St. Elizabeth Hospital, was injured when her auto skidded on ice and overturned in the median of Route 151 near the viaduct behind A. O. Smith Corp., at 11:20 p.m. Sunday.

Granite City firemen had to free Miss Busch from the car, which was upside down. She had head and back injuries and was unable to free herself from the auto.

She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where a series of x-rays were taken for injuries to her right knee, head and back and she was admitted.

$3,500 fire

Fire caused an estimated $3,500 damage to an apartment building at 2517 Benton St., at 5:25 p.m. Saturday.

The fire started between the basement and first floors of the building, separating the basement apartment of Mrs. H. B. Semperger, and the first floor apartment of Jim Verba. A defective wiring to the humidifier was suspected as the cause.

Damage to the two apartments and to the apartment of Cindy Cramer on the second floor was estimated at $2,500 to the building and $1,000 to the contents.

Firemen fought the blaze two hours and 15 minutes.

TRUCK BURNED

A truck parked at 28 Kaseburg Lane, Pontoon Beach, belonging to Bob Corrie, had the truck punched and thieves took $500 worth of tools and an IBM electric typewriter which had been rented. The burglary was discovered at 4:40 p.m. Sunday.

Faces 3 charges

Steve Piechocinski, 23, of 2905 Sunbury Ave., was arrested at Ark's Rum Dm. Club, 16th Street and Madison Avenue, at 9:05 p.m. Sunday and was charged with aggravated battery, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Piechocinski was injured during the arrest and later was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital where sutures were required to close a cut to his scalp.

Officers first were called to the tavern for an alleged disturbance and reported they asked the troublemaker to leave.

They said he went to his car and police left, but drove around the block and noticed his car was still in the tavern parking lot.

He again was asked to leave, and he allegedly used profanity against officers. They arrested him and reported having to drag him to a squad car.

It was alleged he then began to fight with officers and force had to be used to subdue him, police reported.

Carrier inaugurates theme—bold adherence to nation's ideals

Text of President Jimmy Carter's inaugural address Jan. 20.

"For myself and our nation, I want to thank my predecessor and the people of this country who have helped me to lead our land."

In this outward and physical ceremony we attest once again to the inner and spiritual strength of our nation.

As my high school teacher, Miss Julia Coleman, used to say, "We must adjust to changing times and still hold to unchanging principles."

Here before me is the Bible used in the inaugural ceremony of our first President in 1789, and I have just taken my own oath of office on the Bible my mother gave me a few years ago, opened to a timeless admonition from the ancient prophet Micah:

"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but that thou shalt love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

(Micah 6:8)

The inauguration ceremony marks a new beginning, a new spirit among us all.

A President may sense and proclaim that new spirit, but only a people can provide it.

Two centuries ago our nation's birth was a milestone in the long quest for freedom, but the bold and brilliant dream which excited the founders of our nation still awaits its consummation. I have no new dream to set forth today, but rather urge a fresh faith in the old dream.

Ours was the first society openly to define itself in terms of both spirituality and of human liberty.

It is that unique self-definition which has given us an exceptional place in the sun, not just for the benefit of their own physical condition, but for basic human rights.

The passion for freedom is not the rise. Tapping this new spirit, America can be no nobler nation than the one we have.

Let us create together a new nation, a nation of unity and trust. Your strength can compensate for my weakness, and your wisdom can help to minimize my mistakes.

Let us learn together and laugh together and work together in the confidence that in the end we will triumph together in the right.

The American dream endures. We must once again have faith in our country and in one another.

cannot afford to drift. We are not a nation of mediocrity or an inferior quality of life for any person.

Our government must at all times be a competent and compassionate.

We have already found a high degree of personal liberty, and we are now struggling to enhance equality of opportunity.

Our commitment to human rights must be absolute, our laws fair, our natural beauty preserved; the powerful must not persecute the weak, and human dignity must be enhanced.

We have learned that "more" is not necessarily "better," that even our great nation has its recognized limits, and that we can neither answer all questions nor solve all problems.

We cannot afford to do everything, nor can we afford to be pedantic as we meet the job.

So, together, in a spirit of individual sacrifice for the good of the nation, we must simply do our best.

Our nation can be strong only if it is strong at the heart, and we know that the best way to enhance freedom in other lands is to demonstrate there that our democratic system is worthy of emulation.

To be true to ourselves, we must be true to them. We will not behave in foreign lands as we violate our rules and standards here at home, for the trust which our nation earns is essential to its strength.

The world itself is now dominated by a new spirit. Peoples more numerous and more politically aware are craving and now demanding their place in the sun, not just for the benefit of their own physical condition, but for basic human rights.

The passion for freedom is not the rise. Tapping this new spirit, America can be no nobler nation than the one we have.

Let us create together a new nation, a nation of unity and trust. Your strength can compensate for my weakness, and your wisdom can help to minimize my mistakes.

honorably marshaled.

We are a proud, idealistic nation, but let us not confuse our idealism with weakness.

Because we are free we can enter the world as the fate of freedom elsewhere.

Our moral sense dictates a clear-cut preference for those societies which share with us an abiding respect for individual human rights.

We do not seek to intimidate, but it is clear that a world which others can dominate with impunity would be inhospitable to decency and a threat to the well-being of all people.

The world is still engaged in a massive armaments race which is a constant source of equivalent strength among potential adversaries.

We will move this year a step toward our ultimate goal: the elimination of all nuclear weapons from this Earth.

We urge all other people to join in this effort, for peace can mean life instead of death.

Within us, the people of the United States, there is a serious and purposeful rekindling of confidence, and I join in the hope that when my time as your President has ended, people might say this about our nation:

That we had remembered the words of Mohand and renewed our search for humility, mercy and justice;

That we had turned down the barriers that separated those of different race and region and religion, and where there had been distrust, built unity, with a respect for diversity;

That we had found productive work for those able to perform it.

That we had strengthened the bonds of our society.

Governor James R. Thompson's state hiring freeze ordered Friday will enable him to weed out the least efficient operators in state government and avoid a "government in exile" dictated by the 1973-74 governor, Thompson said Saturday.

The purpose is to save the state money; it also will enable us to see where things and people are, and find out who was put on the payroll as a pad and who was put there to do competent work for the people of Illinois, Thompson told Republican county chairmen. The order affects over 60,000 jobs.

Chouteau 'Citizens Party' Budgeting for town offices

A Chouteau Citizens Party ticket of candidates for township offices in the April 5 election filed nominating petitions Friday morning.

The ticket will oppose a slate of township candidates which filed earlier. That ticket filed as the Progressive Party and is headed by incumbent Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks.

The new Citizens Party candidates include:

Morris W. Miles, 118 Kinder Lane, supervisor; Jim Estes, 5445 Maryville Road, highway commissioner; Christine Wallace, 128 Kinder Lane, town clerk; Albert "Sonny" Stahlhut, South Roxana, tax assessor, and, as trustees, James Greer, 5504 Maryville Road; Bill Tindall, 64 University Drive; Jerry Boyd, Rural Route 20, Box 707; and John Dial, 717 Ashland Ave. Estes is incumbent highway commissioner, and Greer is an auditor.

In a statement that followed filing of the nominating petitions, Gene Futch, treasurer of the party's campaign organization, said:

falling snow and chilling temperatures, 20 of the 25 task force members from various communities in the council's jurisdiction attended the kickoff meeting.

Primary purpose of the Explorer post expansion project is to afford youths between the ages of 15 and 21 years an opportunity to discover areas of career interest while helping to solidify values to better handle life in today's society, explained W. F. "Mick" Strange, vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Council for Exploring.

Strange reviewed steps in organizing an Exploring unit, stressing "the youths are there and waiting, we don't have to worry about getting the kids. What we need are charter partners (sponsors) in various vocational and career fields and hobby interest groups."

He said several professional societies, labor organizations and business firms have indicated interest in sponsoring Explorer posts.

Types of units to be established initially follow the results of an "interest survey" taken last fall at area high schools.

Two-member teams were assigned to contact potential sponsors and a new film strip, "What Is Exploring," was shown by Bruce Rotter, Explorer chairman for the Great Central Area, encompassing Missouri, Kansas, Southern Illinois and Eastern Iowa.

Rotter, who lives in Granite City, is a pre-dental student in his sophomore year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Jack Vance of Edwardsville, Cahokia Mound Council president, attended the dinner session.

Also present were Norman Kinder, E. Ray Grisham, Dr. Thomas Layloff, Dr. F. Scott Hendrickson, Frank Mercer, Gene H. Sternberg, Dr. Jack Miller, William Monical, Alton W. Jeffus III, Ned L. Freeman, Miss Cindy Warren, Donald D. Patrick, Glenn Wright, Mrs. V. H. Throne, Valerie Evenden and Larry Miller.

The Cahokia Mound Council currently has 13 Explorer posts involving 280 youths, Strange advised. He said a goal of 10 new posts and 500 Explorers, hopefully, will be attained by June 1.

Efforts during the past year have been directed toward strengthening existing units and expanding Explorer activities on a council level, such as canoe trips, planning conferences, "fun" campouts and dances.

An additional effort has been made in recent months to "recruit a hard core cadre of dedicated leaders to the council's Explorer committee," Strange said.

"The formation of the Chouteau Citizens Party offers experienced people as well as new names and faces to the township government. Incumbent James Greer has been an auditor and served the people well for the past 10 years. Disagreements are served the people for the last 10 years and proved he has the experience and ability to provide roads and drainage for our citizens."

"Albert 'Sonny' Stahlhut is presently serving on the South Roxana Town Board. Other members of the party bring leadership ability and fresh new ideas. All have worked continuously in various areas for improvement of the township."

"A government must have complete cooperation at all levels in order to function efficiently. Disagreements are good only if they result in better government and good service. This has not been the case in Chouteau Township due to the attitude of certain elected officials. The Chouteau Citizens Party pledges to work harmoniously and cooperatively with all other units within the local government to provide better services for all township citizens."

"Chouteau Citizens Party will be running without the office of tax collector. Legislation to abolish the office of tax collector was enacted in 1970. Only five counties in Illinois still have township collectors and eight townships in Madison County budget for tax collectors. It is the intention of the party to abolish this job and rechannel the funds back into the township where needed. The abolishing of this unneeded office at this time will result in a savings of approximately $40,000 over the next four years, Futch added.

"Chouteau Citizens Party will bring the government of the people back to the people where it belongs. We will make every effort to inform the people of all township issues. We will encourage residents to attend and take part in all meetings. Residents will be contacted concerning special taxes and public hearings. We pledge to call public hearings on major issues concerning the spending of our tax dollars."

"The party will conduct a campaign based on principles and issues, and methods of approaching problems that concern all the people."

"Members of the party will be working in the community and making themselves available to explain their qualifications and discuss the issues."

Career and science goals in Venice public schools

Title VII basic and pilot proposals for 1977-78 for Venice Community Unit District No. 3 have been mailed to the Region V, U.S. Office of Education, in Chicago to meet a deadline. Mrs. Albert Cross, director, said today. Notification of grant awards is expected to take place in April.

The basic proposal encompasses three components:

1. There is a need for promoting facts concerning the "world of work" through an effective career education program.

2. There is a need to increase the knowledge of target minority and non-minority students in social studies and science.

3. There is a need for in-service training for staff members to improve communication and human relations regarding intercultural and interracial understanding in order to produce an increased amount of home-school interaction.

The pilot project will contain the following components:

1. There is a need to raise the reading achievement level of target students in the Venice schools.

2. There is a need to increase the mathematics achievement level of the Venice target students.

3. There is a need to encourage target minority and non-minority students to improve attendance in school, in order to prevent a possible decline in their achievement.

level which could cause them to become "dropouts."

Staff members and students were commended on a recent mandatory review conducted by a review team from the Office of Education.

The team was particularly interested in the areas of staffing, resource management, direct services to clients, reporting procedures and dissemination of information.

City ok's sites for steelworker polling places

The Granite City Council last week concurred in action taken earlier by Mayor Paul Schuler granting the United Steelworkers of America permission to set up trailers as voting booths in two locations in the city.

The voting booths are to be used in the Feb. 8 election for new president of the USWA in which Lloyd McBride and Ed Sadowski are opposing candidates.

The council was informed that Mayor Schuler had specified one location on 16th street between Grant and Madison avenues, and the other on Omaha at 20th Street. The aldermen approved the locations unanimously.

The equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in house.

Real-estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real-estate loan. Right here. Right now.

Maybe the money you're looking for is already in the house.

How would you like to raise your income 10 to 20 per cent? There's a way to do it, without changing jobs, asking for a raise or taking in roomers.

The answer is budgeting, according to Hilda Dailey, extension specialist for Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

The beginning of a new year is the best time to start working on a financial plan to help you get the maximum use from your money.

An effective spending plan should have four parts: a list of your family's goals and priorities; the amount of income your family has; a record of how income is now being spent; and a periodic evaluation of progress and review of goals.

Here's how to draw up a plan for your family:

(1) Sit down and make a list of the things you want or would like to do. Each family member should contribute ideas.

Now decide which items are top priority and begin listing their approximate cost and when you plan to reach each goal.

Make goals as specific as possible. "Save for a bigger house" is too vague; "Have $5,000 in a savings account by 1980" is much better defined.

(2) Determine how much money you will have available to reach your goals.

List income, including salary, tips, net earnings from a business or farm, interest from savings, dividends from investments, extra money from odd jobs.

Total your income and subtract income taxes.

(3) Find out how you are using your money now. Begin recording your expenditures and savings.

Each month add the amounts you have spent for each category, including savings, food, clothing, household operation, transportation, recreation, gifts, contributions, housing, personal development, health care and personal spending money.

(4) Total the amount spent in each category to get an idea what you will spend on a yearly basis.

Begin adjusting your spending and savings to reach the goals listed in the first part of your plan.

If your goal is to purchase a certain item, select the amount you will save each payday and consider it like any other bill you must pay.

(5) Include in your budget a fund for emergencies (automobile repairs, medical bills, etc.) and a fund for irregular expenses like taxes and insurance premiums.

List fixed expenses like mortgage payments and utility bills; then day-to-day living expenses for clothing, food, recreation, etc.

(6) Don't try to account for every dollar. Leave some leeway for unexpected expenses which inevitably crop up.

(7) If you find that your needs and wants exceed your income, study each part of your plan to determine where you can trim expenses.

Evaluate your current spending priorities in relation to your long-range goals. Which are more important to you?

Another approach to budgeting is to calculate your net worth.

"Net worth" is the amount of cash you would have left over if you sold everything you owned and paid all your debts.

Finding out your net worth can show you whether you are progressing or falling behind financially.

To calculate your net worth, list your assets, including cash on hand or in savings and checking accounts; the market value of your home and other real estate; the value of your household furnishings, jewelry, art objects, etc.; the blue book value of your automobile(s); cash value of your life insurance, stocks and bonds; money owed you; and any other assets.

Then list your obligations, including the balance due on your mortgage; balance due on installment debts, charge accounts and credit cards; any current outstanding bills; taxes to date which have not been withheld; and any other debts.

Subtract your debts from your assets to get your net worth.

Drivers injured

Mrs. Rhea S. Fowler, 25, of 725 Twenty-seventh Place, and Miss Sonia L. McIntyre, 18, of 2606 West 20th St., suffered injuries last week when their autos were involved in a rear-end collision with each other at the intersection of Niedringhaus and Madison avenues. Ice payment was cited as the cause of the accident.

Mrs. Fowler was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation, complaining of neck pains, and Miss McIntyre was treated for a cut to her nose and then released.

University president promises mayors openness, participation and goal emphasis

President Kenneth A. Shaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville promised the mayors of Southern Illinois Thursday night that his administration will be marked by "openness, goal orientation, evaluation, participation, accountability and positive conflict."

Making his first major address since assuming the office of SIUE president Jan. 17, Shaw was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Southwestern Regional Council of Mayors at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn. He was introduced by Mayor Clyde L. Hartung of Edwardsville.

The new president discussed his "leadership style" and reviewed the role that SIUE plays in the economy and quality of life in this region.

"This region and the university are made better by close cooperation," President Shaw said.

"It is obvious that SIUE has made its contribution to your quality of life. It is equally obvious that the university's stature and success are in large part due to community support and cooperation."

Expanding on his pledge of "openness," the president said, "I am intensely interested in hearing from all segments of the community the institution was founded to serve. I am quite open to all the constructive criticism you might have to offer. I expect it."

Continuing, Dr. Shaw said, "I realize we have a duty to conduct our business in public view. We will have no secrets, no coverups. Information to which the public has a right will be provided."

The university president explained "goal orientation" as "formulating a clear idea as to where the university is going" and "setting definite time limits for the achievement of our goals."

Calling for "honest, realistic evaluation of everything and everyone at the university," he said administrators and the services and leadership they perform must be subject to "careful and constant review" just as students are evaluated in the grading and credit system and faculty are evaluated by students and by their colleagues.

Pres. Shaw gave as an example of his "participation" concept, his decision to invite the University Senate to join him in filling two "crucial" administrative positions — vice-president for business affairs and vice-president and provost.

The business community also has been invited to participate in the vice-president for business affairs search. "An open administration effectively provides for continuing participation," he said.

Dr. Shaw said he will account to the public for what he does as president, and he will expect all other leaders at the university to account for what they have been charged to do.

But he said a climate should be created where problems can be resolved at the level where they occur. "My hope is to avoid a crisis-oriented administration where the president is constantly called upon to resolve every little dispute," he said.

The SIUE president said he will encourage "positive conflict," which he defined as "vigorous debate of the great unresolved issues in our society." But he promised he would not tolerate another kind of conflict — "that of the petty has one glaring disability: "This campus is the only one in Illinois without a permanent physical education facility."

He urged the mayors and community leaders to cooperate with the university in a major effort directed toward "building a physical education facility the entire community can be proud of — and make use of."

Dr. Shaw was the university's success thus far "dramatizes the intense interest and support of a community leadership concerned for future generations and wise about immediate needs."

But he emphasized that the university is more than a library and a collection of classrooms.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., Jan. 24, 1977 Page 6

"For the community at large, we must also serve as a source of cultural refreshment and healthy recreation of body and spirit."

"Extracurricular activities that bring enlightenment and enjoyment to citizens outside the campus community continue to be a central concern."

Dr. Shaw cited art exhibits, dramatic presentations, musical concerts, and lectures of current and historical interest. And he said the Mississippi River Festival will be continued.

"Despite some mistakes, the Festival has been a major asset, on balance," he said.

"It has survived because of the patience and understanding of our good neighbors; it will grow because it will continue to improve."

Referring to the economic impact of the university on the region, Pres. Shaw pointed to new jobs, buildings and roads. He stressed that "active interdependence" is especially important as the area moves toward construction of a new airport.

"I come to you with a pledge of 'my best efforts toward cooperation, and with the hope that you will continue to give the university the superb support you have given in the past,' he concluded.

Loan commissioner to speak

Timothy E. Griffin, Illinois commissioner of savings and loan associations, will be a keynote speaker at a conference, "Helping Inner City Homeowners: Community Development Leverage Programs and the Lending Institutions," Thursday and Friday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Griffin, formerly assistant director of the Illinois Department of Finance and a cum laude graduate of the University of Notre Dame, will discuss the loan review panel approach in Chicago, in a session at 10:30 a.m. Friday in the River Rooms of the University Center.

The conference is sponsored by the SIUE Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUERS) with the cooperation of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

Herbert Bowers of the Philadelphia National Bank, James Bringley of South Shore National Bank of Chicago and Norman Tice of City Bank in St. Louis will be among the speakers on specifications for community-responsive mortgage lending practices.

In response, local government and community development officials will discuss and evaluate the public programs assisting homeowners in inner city neighborhoods, according to Mark L. Drucker, visiting assistant professor and research associate at CUERS. Cities featured will include Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and East St. Louis.

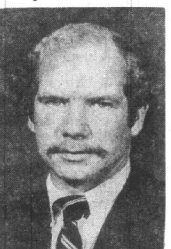

SERVICE COUPLE NAME DAUGHTER DENISE

HERBERT BOWERS

TIMOTHY GRIFFIN

Drucker said the purpose of the conference is "to facilitate the planning and implementation of the best possible public-private cooperative programming."

"To help in this process, panelists will discuss the application of modified urban triage approaches in Memphis and St. Louis, the Federal National Mortgage Association's view of St. Louis as a national case study of urban investment, performance definitions and indicators for neighborhood programming, and priority-setting for community development revenue sharing funds."

Conference sessions will be held at the Religious Center and in the River Rooms of the University Center, and participants will be welcomed by SIUE's new president, Kenneth Shaw, and the acting director of CUERS, Alfred Kahn.

Insurance agents offer tips for winter driving

Winter driving is a different animal, requiring greater concentration, thought and preparation, according to a statement by the Tri-Cities Independent Insurance Agents.

But, the statement added, "there is no trick to safe winter driving since most of the ingredients involve common sense. The insurance agents statement said:

"Prepare your car for winter driving: have the engine tuned, brakes checked, wheels aligned, tires balanced, heater and defroster checked, antifreeze level maintained, radiator cleaned and hoses in good condition, battery adequately charged and windshield wipers checked."

"Prepare yourself for winter driving. Carry an ice scraper, a small brush or broom, windshield washer anti-freeze, a rag, a shovel, a flashlight and a few flares. To more adequately protect yourself, include a small bag of sand and a piece of old rug or burlap bags for additional traction.

"Snow tires provide more traction on loose snow. There is evidence, however, that they offer less traction on ice than regular tires do."

"Prepare your attitude for winter driving: accelerate gently on any snowy or icy pavements, start the braking process sooner, travel at a slower rate, brake gently, allow a greater following distance and pump the brakes if you start to slide."

"Prepare for winter driving. You'll be safer, others will be safer, and your winter driving experience will be less burdensome."

Precautions in use of autos in cold weather

In the severe winter weather across the Midwest, the Auto Club of Missouri is advising motorists that they can insure that their cars will start and run dependably if they have the vehicles thoroughly checked and prepared for cold weather operation, follow proper starting procedures, and take special precautions during especially severe weather.

Things to have checked:

- (1) Cooling system (antifreeze, hoses, radiator cap).
- (2) Starting and charging systems (battery, battery cables, starter motor, alternator-generator, voltage regulator, belts).
- (3) Ignition system (points, condenser, dwell angle, coil, timing, spark plugs, plug wires, distributor cap and rotor).
- (4) Carburetion system (air filter, choke, fuel lines, accelerator pump, idle speed, air-fuel mixture).

Special precautions for severe weather:

- (1) Change oil and oil filter. Dirty oil puts a greater strain on your battery than clean oil.
- (2) Put in winter-weight oil as recommended in your car owner's manual for the prevailing temperature range.
- (3) If you have access to an electrical outlet where the car is parked overnight, there are several accessories available to auto supply stores that can increase your engine's ability to start in severe cold, including dipstick engine oil heaters, battery trickle chargers, battery warmers, engine coolant.

(4) Change oil and oil filter. Dirty oil puts a greater strain on your battery than clean oil.

(5) If you have access to an electrical outlet where the car is parked overnight, there are several accessories available to auto supply stores that can increase your engine's ability to start in severe cold, including dipstick engine oil heaters, battery trickle chargers, battery warmers, engine coolant.

(6) If you can smell gasoline and the car will not start, the carburetor is probably flooded. To start a flooded engine, hold the accelerator on the floor and crank the engine for ten seconds at a time until the engine starts. Do not pump the accelerator.

Madison defends upo basketball crown — tops Oilers 71-65

Coach Larry Graham's Trojans cagers lived up to pre-tournament expectations by successfully defending their crown in the 30th annual DuPont tournament Saturday night with a 71-65 win over Wood River in the championship contest.

Madison High School entered the game against the Oilers after taking two overtime periods to beat East St. Louis Assumption 60-56 Friday in a semifinal game.

Wood River defeated Belleville's St. Henry Prep 66-56 Thursday in a semifinal game.

Orchard Farms of Missouri beat host Wood River 22-19, 46-38 and 44-41 at the quarters during the hotly-contested title game.

The Trojans made 28 field goals in 68 attempts and the Oilers 27 of 55.

From the foul line, Madison sank 15 of 23 and Wood River 11 of 15.

Madison committed the fewest fouls, 17-19, but had the most turnovers, 13-12. Madison controlled the boards, 36-28.

Wood River jumped ahead 12-10 in the first quarter, but a three-point play by a Trojan put Madison ahead 13-12 and the Trojans never trailed again until midway through the third period.

Steelers consolation champs of Belleville East tournament

For the third time in four seasons, GCHS North claimed consolation honors of the annual Belleville East basketball tournament, beating the Rough Riders of St. Louis' Roosevelt High 68-49 Saturday night.

Host East successfully defended its tournament crown Saturday night, upending cross-town rival Belleville West 78-73 in the championship tilt.

East advanced into the title game with an 83-77 win over Centralia on Thursday, and West beat Murphysboro 64-46 Friday.

Roosevelt went against Coach William "Bill" Ohlendorf's North High Steelers fresh from defeating Belleville Alhoff 74-72 Friday in a consolation bracket contest.

The Rough Riders connected with the first two baskets in the opening period, but three straight field goals by Jerry Barnett put North on top and the Steelers were never headed after that, leading 20-13, 36-24 and 50-37 at the quarters.

From the floor, North meshed 26 field goals in 57 attempts and the St. Louis squad 18 of 48.

The Steelers held the edge at the charity stripe, sinking 16 of 28 to Roosevelt's 13 of 21.

Fouls were numerous, with North committing the most, 30-21. Turnovers were even at 16 each.

Barnett pulled down 13 of North's 41 rebounds, and Halton Stubbfield set a new tournament one-game record of 21 rebound recoveries of his Roosevelt team's 35 total.

The old mark of 20 was set by Belleville East's Dave Haverman in 1972.

Ten different players provided the scoring for North. Barnett had 20, Rodney Wortham 14, Brian Smith 11, Gary Paul and Rick Williams 10 each, Chris Page four and Bob Schenke, Brad Gauen, Don Cook and Randy Vandergriff two each.

The Steelers advanced into Saturday's consolation contest with a 68-45 win Thursday night over Triad St. Jacob-Troy-Marine during which Jerry Barnett, 6-5 senior, recuperated sufficiently from a previous knee injury to pace North's scoring with 29 points, including 19 in the third quarter.

North High and Triad played to a 10-10 first-quarter deadlock. North then led 25-18 and 49-29 after the second and third quarters.

From the floor, North made 21 of 42 attempts and Triad 19 of 52.

The Steelers sank 18 of 33 triad committed the most fouls, 19-16, and trailed North in 19 of 28.

Barnett was seeing action for the first time since spraining his knee on Jan. 15 in a game with Edwardsville.

He was held by Triad to a total of seven first-half points.

While teammate Rodney Wortham scored all 12 of his game points in the first two periods.

The senior cager opened up in the third quarter with seven field goals and five free throws, including six straight baskets which enabled North to lead at one point by 42-22.

Triad held the Steelers scoreless for the first five minutes of the final quarter while narrowing North's lead to 49-41 on consecutive baskets.

With 1:39 remaining and North ahead 53-46, Triad was held by North's defense to a lone basket while the Steelers sank seven free throws for the win.

Adding to Barnett's 29 and Wortham's 12 points were Page with six, Smith with five, and three Alan Warfield and Willard two each and Smith one.

While narrowing North's lead to 49-41 on consecutive baskets.

North champion of 16-school wrestling meet

Coach Walter Whitaker's GCHS North Steeler matmen sparked in a 16-school wrestling tournament at Quincy Friday and Saturday, earning 176½ points and emerging with three weight class champions to take first place in the fourth annual double-elimination meet.

East Moline, winner of the meet for the past three years, had 143½ points, Quincy High 135½, Rock Island (Alleman) 104½ and Burlington, Ia., 103½.

Decatur Eisenhower totaled 98½, Mount Pulaski 96½, Stephen Decatur 79½, East St. Louis Senior High 72, Springfield 57, Springfield Lanphier 56½, Decatur

MacArthur 56½, East St. Louis Lincoln 33½, Quincy Notre Dame 24, Alton 23½ and Clifton Central 9½.

Whitaker noted that in past years the tournament involved only eight schools, with GCHS North taking runnerup honors each year.

"I feel confident the Quincy meet was a tuneup for us in preparing for the upcoming district competition," said the head mentor.

Khris Whelan (105 pounds) swept to victory by his weight class, winning 16-2, 20-1, 16-1 and 11-0 decisions.

Matt McCullough (126) also was victorious, winning 8-0, 11-0, 10-0 and 8-4.

And Mark Widel (167) gave the Steelers their third individual championship winning on a pin in 4:33, and then by 6-3 again and by default.

Placing second were: Tracy Patton (112) winning on a bye, in 1:34 and 16-0 and then losing 1-20; Ray Stuart (145) winning 15-1 and 7-5, tied 2-2 and losing 5-20.

Third-place Steeler matmen were Kevin Shemwell (98) and Kirk Davis (119).

Two grapplers, after suffering one loss each, wrestled their way to top consolation bracket honors — Steve Harding (135) and heavyweight James Shemwell.

Organize GC park baseball leagues at meeting Thursday

Granite City Park District baseball leagues' organizational meeting will be held Thursday at the Nameoki Recreation Center at 7 p.m.

The baseball program will consist of five divisions. The Atom Division will be for all eight-year-old boys—first-year T-ball. Nine-year-old boys will be second-year T-ball.

The Bantam Division will be for boys 10 years old and 11 years old for first- and second-year Bantams. Midgets will be 12 and 13 for first- and second-year. Juveniles will be 14 and 15 for first- and second-year programs. And the Junior Division will consist of 16 and 17-year-old players.

Players from last year's teams should contact their managers to be sure they are going to have a team this season, it was explained.

Parents wanting their children placed on baseball teams for the coming season are to contact the park office to register (telephone 877-3059).

The meeting is for all managers from last year and for all new managers who want to have a team this year.

"We will be in need of additional managers to take care of the expected list of boys who want to play baseball in the 1977 season," a spokesman said.

Granite Cityans defeat Canada in ice hockey

United States, went ahead 2-0 in the first period on long shots from outside the red line.

They attempted 17 shots at the Granite City goal being guarded by first Ken Hassler and then Mike Davis.

Granite City tied the game on goals by Tim Dix and Ted

Thalman in the second period of play, and went ahead 3-2 in the third period on a shot by Kenny Mitchell.

Intramural sports program growing

The intramural sports program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has more than doubled in size over the last three years, according to Keith Wadell, coordinator of co-recreation and intramural sports.

"The main reason for the rising popularity of the intramural program? Well, for one thing, it's free."

"With the exception of hockey, all the activities available to the student are free of charge. Hockey is so expensive, we just can't afford to cover the cost. The student, therefore, is asked to pay for two-thirds of the cost."

Another feature of the intramural program is the "all sports trophy" that is awarded to organizational groups at the end of the year. Groups such as fraternities, sororities, Black Students Association and others enter teams into the A-division of the program, and the club or group which accumulates the most points via the standings for each activity is awarded the cup.

Two different divisions of play are provided for students. The A-division is for the fierce competitor who takes the game seriously. It is known as the competitive league. B-division is for the casual sport fan, who is just out for the exercise and wants to enjoy himself. It is known as the recreational division.

"This year, we had pre-season 'hockey' and volleyball tournaments," Wadell said. "This enables the participants, including the officials, to familiarize themselves with the style of play that will take place once the season gets under way."

Only one event has been cancelled this year so far — a "black belt" had to pull out at the last minute. But we found another "black belt" instructor a couple of days after the cancellation announcement," he explained.

Ideas for intramural activities are proposed by students, faculty and staff. If some people want to get an activity started, all they have to do is take the idea to the co-recreation and intramural sports office.

"Since people who want to be involved bring ideas to the department, no activities are cancelled because of lack of interest," Wadell said. And thanks to people like Wadell, more and more people are getting exercise by participating in intramural sports.

'Spirit Week' at GC South

The Red Peppers at Granite City High School South are preparing for the coming annual clash between North and South in basketball this Saturday and then wrestling competition on Thursday, Feb. 3.

South "Spirit Week" this week offers several events planned for the students under the leadership of the Red Peppers.

The halls of South High have been decorated with red and black streamers and banners, and students are being asked to wear the school colors on Tuesday, which the Red Peppers have declared "color day."

Tickets to the basketball game are to be sold in advance, beginning Wednesday.

Members of the Red Peppers will be "secret pals" to the varsity members of the basketball and wrestling squads. The girls will send messages and make posters in honor of their "pals."

Students possessing an advance ticket to the game will be allowed to attend a special pep rally at 2:45 p.m. Friday to salute the basketball team at Southern Illinois.

To determine who has the most school spirit, a contest will be held at the pep rally.

The four classes, freshmen through seniors, will be sectioned off at the rally, and the class with the most spirit will receive an hour-long lunch period one day the following week.

Flip cards will be used for the first time at the basketball game Saturday night in conjunction with some of the cheers.

"The spirit of South students will be at its highest when the 'Yanks' and the 'Rebs' meet for their annual battle on the courts and mats," Kathy Small, publicity chairman for the Red Peppers, reports.

Here's one they may surprise you... The man who holds the lifetime record in baseball for hitting into the most double plays is, oddly enough, Hank Aaron... Surprisingly, Aaron hit into more double plays than anyone else in baseball history.

The biggest point spread in any major-league basketball game ever played happened when LSU beat Southwestern Tennessee in 1952 by a score of 124 to 33 — winning by 91 points!

Did you ever wonder how game receipts are split between home and visiting teams in major professional sports? ... In pro football, the visiting team gets 25% of the gate ... In pro basketball and hockey, the home teams keep all the receipts ... Cougar teams active

After suffering losses to Illinois State and Central Oklahoma State, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling team will be back in action Friday in the Southwest Missouri Invitational, held in Springfield, Mo.

The Cougars, coached by Larry Kristoff, will face tough competition at Southwest Missouri.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers of the Big Ten and the Nebraska Cornhuskers of the Big Eight, along with the best school, will battle the SUE grapplers.

Terry Mulrenin, a top 126-pound wrestler, is expected to be back in action.

The men's basketball team will return "home" to the Edwardsville High School Wednesday after five consecutive road games. Oakland City (Ind.) College, at 86-78, was the only winners out of the two matches. Spence was victorious in both of his encounters.

University enrollment is stable

The attrition rate that normally plagues all institutions of higher learning during the winter session each year is noticeably lower this year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville than it has been for at least five years, according to Robert Bruker, director of admissions and records.

Student enrollment for the winter quarter at SIUE is 10,825, only a 4.4 per cent drop from last fall's total enrollment of 11,327. Usually, the attrition rate is somewhat higher.

With the bitter cold weather experienced in the area, the low percentage drop in attrition came as a surprise to administrators, who feared the cold might keep students away.

"The enrollment at all colleges and universities is usually higher during the fall session than it is during the winter session," Bruker said.

Some students go to school for the first time during the fall quarter and then, for one reason or another, decide that they don't want to follow through with their academic programs.

The reasons for the fall-winter attrition are many. Ed Soliday, assistant director of admissions and records at SIUE, said that many students drop out of school during the winter quarter and come back in the spring or summer," he said.

A breakdown by classes at the undergraduate level shows current enrollment includes 2,578 freshmen, 2,045 sophomores, 1,875 juniors, and 2,072 seniors.

At the graduate level, there are 2,068 students attending the university along with 37 unclassified students. There are 130 students enrolled in the School of Dental Medicine.

There are 7,445 students attending the University full-time and 3,380 part-time students. The enrollment figures reveal that the number of male students continues to outnumber that of female students, although the margin between the sexes is narrowing.

On the local campus, 5,849 males are enrolled in classes and 4,976 female students.

On the basis of present plans, expenditures for property additions in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 combined are expected to total approximately $70,000.

Accounts receivable at Dec. 31, 1976, continued under control, with the number of days of sales outstanding down from 45 at the beginning of the fiscal year and a year ago.

Inventories were up slightly from the levels at the beginning of the year and a year ago.

AMSTED had $17,000,000 in short-term investments and no long-term debt at Dec. 31.

Stockholders re-elected four directors to three-year terms. They are: R. E. Anderson, chairman, Continental Illinois Corp. and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago; J. P. Slow improvement seen in rail product sales; AMSTED income lower

At the annual meeting of stockholders held last week in Chicago, AMSTED Industries announced that income in the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1976, amounted to $6,892,000, down from $9,033,000 in the comparable period of a year ago.

Earnings per share decreased to $1.28 from $1.69. Last year's earnings per share are restated for the two-for-one stock split which became effective February 20, 1976.

Sales in the quarter were $121,000,000, the same as a year ago. Railroad product sales were down $4,300,000, or seven per cent.

Sales of construction and building products were down $400,000, or one per cent. General industrial product sales were up $4,700,000, or 17 per cent.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Jeff Smith, president, said, "Decreased earnings resulting from reduced shipments of products and construction and building products were only partially offset by improved profits from general industrial products."

Additions to property in the first quarter were $12,700,000. On the basis of present plans, expenditures for property additions in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 combined are expected to total approximately $70,000.

chairman and president. A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co.

At the meeting, stockholders ratified the board of directors' appointment of Price Waterhouse & Co. to audit the accounts of the company for the 1977 fiscal year.

Stockholders were told that AMSTED's backlog of orders at Dec. 31, 1976, amounted to $126,000,000, compared to $127,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1976, and $183,000,000 a year ago.

Orders for freight car components, although off significantly from last year, are down only slightly from the Oct. 1 beginning of the fiscal year and continue to represent the largest portion of the backlog.

Approximately 25,000 new cars remain on order with the nation's carbuilders as compared to 40,000 last year and 26,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The unfilled orders for general industrial products, construction and building products are up slightly both from a year ago and the beginning of the fiscal year.

Orders for construction and building products continue to be the smallest part of the backlog. Lanterman and Smith said that "sales of general industrial and construction and building products have increased during the past year and we believe they will continue to show moderate gains during the final three quarters of fiscal 1977."

"Sales and earnings of railroad products in the quarter just ended were up from the last quarter of fiscal 1976 and we expect these operations to continue improving slowly during the rest of the fiscal year."

"In summary, sales and earnings in the second half of the year should improve over the first half. Overall, the outlook is for another very good year for AMSTED."

Subsidiaries include American Steel Foundries. At the meeting of the board of directors, a quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share was declared payable on March 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Feb. 18.

Elks scholarship forms

Official entry forms are available at the Elks Lodge, 1329 Niedringhaus Ave., to 807 Quad-City high school senior who wishes to apply for scholarship through the Elks National Foundation Scholarship program.

Applications must be filed no later than Feb. 15. The lodge in whose jurisdiction the applicant resides, according to James R. Kenney, lodge activities committee chairman of the Granite City organization.

Information also is available from high school principals and advisers. The names of winners will be announced around May 1, Kennedy added.

Last Grand Exalted Ruler John L. Walker of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the foundation's board of trustees, has announced that there will be 1,051 college scholarships awarded this year, 53 more than last year's record number.

Total value of scholarships also jumped by some $37,000 from last year's record to a new high of $778,900.

The six top winners (three boys and three girls) will each receive grants for four years of study; all others are for one year each. Competition is open only to high school seniors.

The first place girl and first-place boy each receive $5,000 a year for four years; second-place winners will get $2,500 a year for four years and third-place winners will receive $2,000 for each of four years.

Other awards range from $600 to $1,750 for one year.

Applications are judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership and financial need with no consideration given to race, religion, national origin, or any connection with BPO Elks of the U.S.A. Experience has shown that the student with the best chances of winning have a scholarship rating of 90 per cent or better and are in the top five per cent of their class, Walker noted.

Urge revised state school agencies but main problem still is money

(Illinois Task Force on Governmental Reorganization) Elementary and secondary education in Illinois is the recipient of the largest single share (23 per cent) of the state's total appropriations.

In the current fiscal year, the budget of the State Board of Education slightly exceeds the $1 billion mark, not including an additional quarter of a million dollars in capital financing.

A revision of the school aid formula in 1973 represented an effort on the part of the state to both equalize the education dollar resources among districts and relieve the local tax burden.

As a result, state appropriations for public schools have increased 55 per cent over the last three years, even though the school aid formula has not yet been fully funded under the provisions of the statute.

Illinois ranks fourth in the nation for expenditures for public elementary and secondary schools after New York, California and Pennsylvania.

It has the sixth largest enrollment population of the 50 states.

Illinois legislative provisions for handicapped children are among the broadest in the nation, being one of only six states to include persons from ages three to 21 as eligible for special education services. In total expenditures, Illinois ranks sixth nationwide.

The General Assembly, effective October 1, 1973, and pursuant to the 1970 Constitution, created by statute a State Board of Education to serve as the policymaking body for the elementary and secondary schools of the state of Illinois.

The law provides for a 17-member board appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, on a regional basis co-terminous with the five Illinois judicial districts.

With this action, Illinois became the 49th state to have a State Board of Education.

In 31 states, members are gubernatorially appointed; in the other 18 states, members are popularly elected.

Members of the State Board serve six-year staggered terms, thus maximizing planning and continuity in educational programs while, at the same time, distributing representation among the various geographic sections of Illinois.

The purpose of a State Board of Education is not to supplant the boards of education serving at the district level, but rather to provide assistance and leadership in fulfilling its local functions and in meeting statewide educational goals.

The law, in fact, charges the State Board with the responsibility for determining its "appropriate relationship" with local districts and recommending accompanying legislation for implementation.

One of the board's primary initial responsibilities was the appointment of the state superintendent of education.

Prior to 1973, the state's chief school officer was elected quadrennially by Illinois voters.

The Constitutional Convention of 1970 abolished this constitutionally elective office, suggesting that its fixed term and partisan political nature placed limitations on the state's long-range planning capability and on its overall educational leadership responsibilities.

The current state structure consists of a State Board of Education whose constitutional powers include appointment of the state superintendent and the establishment of policies and guidelines affecting schools serving pre-school through twelfth grade students as well as students in vocational schools.

The state superintendent is the administrative head of the Illinois Office of Education (IOE) and is responsible for implementing the policies of the State Board, including, but not limited to, fiscal reporting, school recognition and supervision, and teacher certification.

The intermediate unit for public education in Illinois is the Educational Service Region (ESR).

ESRs are administered by superintendents who are elected quadrennially by the regional populace.

Their duties include distributing state aid funds to local districts in the holding or arranging professional inservice workshops.

The superintendents' salaries are paid by the IOE, while staff salaries and operating expenses are paid by the respective county boards.

There is a wide variance in the level of economic support provided by county boards statewide for this purpose. The county boards also have the power to remove the superintendents from office for cause.

Concomitant with an effort to consolidate numerous, sparsely located rural school ESRs into larger, dual or unit districts (from 11,955 districts in 1947 to 1,065 in 1973), the state has also appreciably reduced the number of ESRs.

Prior to 1971, there were 102 service regions, one per county in the state.

Subsequently, legislation was passed mandating a minimum regional population of 16,000 for an ESR. This, in effect, forced consolidation into some multi-county units and reduced the number of ESRs to 57.

Some observers suggest even further consideration of consolidation.

Intermediate administrative districts are found in other states. However, most other states use an intermediate board as the elected governing unit for elementary and secondary education, with power to appoint the regional superintendent.

The principle of local control appears to be a nationwide "sacred cow," even at the intermediate echelon, where across the states there is a resistance to using the state education office staff to service and to coordinate the needs of local districts.

The exceptions to this rule are the Illinois cities of Mt. Vernon, Champaign-Urbana, DeKalb and Chicago, all of which have offices staffed by regional administrators of the IOE.

However, at the same time, these cities are in county or multi-county regions administered by superintendents of the Educational Service Region.

The Education Committee of the 1970 Constitutional Convention discussed the need for an intermediate agency between the IOE and local school districts, but did not recommend either continuation or elimination of elected ESR superintendents, leaving such decisions to the legislature.

Traditionally in Illinois and in other states, there has been a split between higher education and elementary and secondary education.

Occasionally, recommendations for creating one governing unit for both surface, but such a move in Illinois has not been perceived as politically feasible.

When the State Board of Education created the state superintendent, the state additionally called for the establishment of a Joint Committee on Education, comprised of three members each from the State Board and the Board of Higher Education.

This committee is charged with addressing the planning, articulation and budgetary issues involving areas of mutual concern in the educational continuum.

The interaction between IOE and other state agencies is not a significant problem.

The relationship with the Department of Transportation and the Illinois secretary of state relative to school transportation licensing and in-service training is functional.

The creation of a special school board governing Department of Corrections facilities has resulted in better coordination of educational services to juvenile detention centers.

Special education programs for clients of both the Departments of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities and of Children and Family Services are provided for under law, and the IOE provides a standard-setting, technical assistance and funding role for these departments.

The Board of Vocational Rehabilitation and IOE work closely to serve clients at the secondary level. Coordination of services is generally done by special education cooperatives.

Generally speaking, fiscal rather than programmatic estrangement prevent Illinois from realizing implementation of broader services to the handicapped through the IOE.

The Capital Development Board has supplanted the Illinois School Building Commission as the provider of school facilities.

The revised educational structure for Illinois is now slightly over two years old.

The retiring governor appointed only 16 of the 17 school board members provided for in the law.

The phasing-out period for short-term, original members begins in 1977, when five terms will expire.

Future governors will then appoint replacements for overlapping six-year terms.

The first appointed state superintendent, Dr. Joseph Cronin, is in the midst of his first multi-year contract.

The newness of this system limits any meaningful analysis of the effectiveness of the revisions.

Nevertheless, a bill to eliminate the State Board was introduced in the Illinois Senate during the last session; it did not pass.

There has been traditionally among some a desire in public policy formation to separate education from Illinois politics.

The recent abolition of an elected state superintendent could be perceived as constitutional support for this principle.

While the state superintendent is now in fact a full-time professional chief school officer, the State Board is shifted instead into the political arena.

This condition results because the IOE is still a state agency and, as such, must compete with the other departments, boards, agencies and commissions for finite state revenues, eventually appropriated by the General Assembly.

Although the State Board is an independent executive branch agency which does not report directly to the governor, its budget recommendations are included in the Bureau of the Budget review and are submitted as a part of the governor's total request to the legislature.

If the State Board's requests exceed those that the governor and the Bureau of the Budget recommended, and a compromise is not reached prior to submission, both the governor and IOE present their positions to the legislature.

The legislature is then faced with conflicting recommendations for the elementary and secondary education budget.

If the legislature approves the State Board's appropriation request, the governor can use the amendatory veto to make budget cuts. This is the situation which occurred this year.

The effect of this arrangement is an elongated timetable for the resolution of crucial financial issues.

This, in turn, presents a sizable problem to local school districts which must begin action on their local budgets by August of a given fiscal year.

Elementary and secondary education in Illinois is traditionally a grassroots effort, with local boards of education controlling operations at the district level.

The functions of the Illinois Office of Education, whose main task is to provide overall educational leadership, are basically regulatory, evaluative and adjudicative.

The problems of education at the state level do not appear to lend themselves to resolution through reorganization.

Procedural items, such as timetables, budget review and funding formulas, will require solutions beyond the scope of this study.

Better coordination among governmental agencies could ameliorate these problems, however, and is discussed here.

In between the state and local levels, there are a variety of regional bodies, including but not limited to Educational Service Regions, special education cooperatives, area vocational centers and regional IOE offices.

These entities are not necessarily co-terminous and are administered separately, with no centralized coorminating authority.

Furthermore, funding from the county boards in the state for the ESRs is inconsistent from one region to the next, resulting in an unequal system of service delivery. These are problematic factors which might be mitigated by reorganization.

The argument for a governor in a strong managerial position, which takes into account notions of span of control, centralized resource allocation procedures, and policy coordination, would support consolidation in terms of creating a series of umbrella agencies.

Under this option, the governor would appoint secretaries whose responsibilities would include coordination of planning, budgeting and policy for a series of agencies with similar functions.

Elementary and secondary education could go in one of four ways with this approach:

(1) It could be part of a human services umbrella, including the health and social service agencies modeled after the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

While a broad consolidation of this type would set up the mechanism for interdepartmental communication and coordination, the sheer size of such a bureaucracy might outweigh any economic or service delivery advantages.

(2) This option would put public education under a social services umbrella. The secretary would be responsible for coordinating policy and planning for such departments as IOE, DCFS, Public Aid, Aging, etc.

This arrangement would appear to provide a better balance in terms of size and economy of operation versus efficiency of service delivery.

(3) The governor could appoint a secretary of education over both the higher education and elementary-secondary education. The state of Massachusetts is currently organized in this way.

This cabinet-type system would provide for a consistent secretariat concept in the executive organization.

However, since the State Board is constitutionally authorized to set policy, and neither the State Board nor the BHE reports to the governor, the secretary of education would not have authority over these boards. The secretary would, therefore, not be parallel to the others, if a government-wide "secretary" system were used.

(4) The governor could appoint a secretary of education over elementary-secondary education. This option is the least viable both from an economic and functional perspective. The secretary would have no direct authority over the State Board or state superintendent and would tend to become another side in the executive office.

In the back, from the left, are: Carroll Channess as "Teddy," William Smoltz as "Jonathan" and Richard Lucido as "Einstein." Cities must meet new flood insurance rules by June 1

Significant changes in requirements of the National Flood Insurance Program will require Quad-City area municipalities and Madison County to make extensive revisions in present ordinances and agreements by a deadline of June 1 this year, Theodore Mikesell, executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, has informed city officials in the area.

In a notice to the Granite City Council last week, Mikesell said that the June 1 deadline directive is the "most important and most frustrating" factor in the new program, and that for that reason the planning commission has scheduled a Flood Plains Regulations workshop to be held Feb. 3 at the commission's office in Collinsville.

"We feel that the changes (in the flood insurance program) are significant and indicate a need for some mechanism to provide assistance to communities which must comply with the new requirements," Mikesell said.

He said that since the number of participating communities in the seven-county SIMAPC planning area is large, two sessions of the workshop will be held — one at 1:30 p.m. and the other at 7 p.m. The workshops will be conducted by French Wetmore and Brent McMahon of the Illinois Division of Water Resources who will explain the new NFIP requirements and explain a model ordinance that has been drafted for local use by communities that participate in the National Flood Insurance Program.

Granite City, Venice and Madison now participate in the area.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Arthur James Williams.

She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Clarence Tesson of Memphis, Mrs. Dorothy Payne of Whitney, Tex., Mrs. LaVern Bonham of Cleburn, Tex.; four sons, Arthur J. Williams Jr. of Waco, Tex., Finley Williams of Edwardsville, George R. Williams of St. Louis and Wesley Williams of Richardson, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Flora Tarantino of Fontana, Calif.

Funeral arrangements are listed in today's obituary column.

Venice officials also will have representatives at the workshop and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk said the matter will be discussed in Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

City building plan is still active—Schuler

Granite City will continue its efforts to secure federal funds to finance construction of a new municipal building, Mayor Paul Schuler told the City Council last week.

The mayor said that he has written Cong. Melvin Price (23rd District) asking him to determine the reasons that Granite City's application for a $1.6 million grant under the Public Works Act was turned down.

"Cong. Price has replied that he will make an investigation into the matter to determine what happened to our application and as soon as I hear from him you will be informed," the mayor told the aldermen.

"I have received a list of grants that were approved," the mayor noted, "and in making some comparisons it looks like we have a lot of good company."

One EPA man said that many of those who failed to qualify was a "statistical deviation."

"It looks like there will be another round of public Works grants under President Carter, probably for around $4 billion nationwide. We'll be in there with our application."

Alderman Gerald Parnley of the Sixth Ward said, "I can't understand why Granite City was turned down. We had everything going for us—completed plans, site locations and detailed information. Some of those who received grants had nothing but a proposal."

The council was informed last week by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles that a series of tax objections have been filed, mostly by railroads, against 1975 taxes due Granite City.

Objections were filed by the Illinois Terminal Railroad, Alton & Southern, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Terminal

Railroad Association, Norfolk & Western ("Wabash"), the Interurban Water Co., Burlington Northern, Inc., and Penn Central.

The council voted to accept a notice of resignation by Mrs. Margaret Henderson as a member of the Granite City Library board. Reason for the resignation was not given.

The aldermen voted to approve a claim of $107 in payment of medical bills incurred by Marce Vest, 1311a Nineteenth St., who suffered a left ankle injury in a fall on a defective curbing.

They refused to grant a claim of $160 in payment for two rugs damaged in a Granite City residence because of a sewer backup. The complainant had asked payment for two rugs at $80 each.

James Stack, assistant city street superintendent, reported to the council on his attendance at a dewatering school conducted at the University of Missouri-Rolla, which he said was attended by 68 persons who were instructed by engineering experts on dewatering methods. He said there were persons attending from several foreign countries including Spain and Africa.

He said the course provided information "that will permit us to undertake much more than we had thought," in dewatering for sewer repairs in areas that have high groundwater tables.

FAILS TO PAY

Police are seeking a man described as about six feet, one inch tall with a moustache, wearing brown clothing and a black stocking cap who requested a new tire be mounted on his auto at Major Tire Company, 2163 Madison Ave., at 4:45 p.m. Thursday and then drove away without paying $74.

Plan school electrical improvements in Venice

Bids submitted by R. Dron Electrical Co., Inc., and Rite Electric Co., both of Granite City, to complete electrical work needed in three areas at the Venice School building were opened at last week's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

The work involves installation of additional outlets in Venice Grade School classrooms, correction of overhead lighting in the Venice gymnasium and installation of an emergency lighting system in the gym.

The bids were referred to the Building Committee for review and a recommendation by the next board meeting.

The board approved the attendance of Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers and two board members at a special seminar in Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28, focusing on "how to live with declining resources."

Board members Wilbert Gasper and William Fichte tentatively agreed to take part in the seminar, which is sponsored by the Illinois Association of School Administrators.

A request by Venice Red Devils Coach Richard Essington for the 1977-78 squad to participate in a Christmas tournament at Charleston, Ill., was discussed.

Board members, commenting about the distance involved, asked Supt. Vickers to obtain further information from the coach.

Eddie Lee Salmond, 93 Hill St., Eagle Park, was hired as a custodian at Venice schools, replacing Tim Tolliver, who resigned earlier this month to continue his college education.

The parents of four Venice High School students, all related to two Venice basketball players, attended Wednesday night's meeting and asked the board to intervene in a disciplinary action taken by the team coach following the Venice-Madison basketball game Dec. 20.

The action involved suspension of one player, and three others failing to report for practice and subsequently being removed from the playing roster.

It was alleged all had been warned about their conduct on at least one previous occasion.

Although backing the coach's action based on the information presently available, Board President Jack Tolliver suggested the parents list specific charges, in writing, concerning the incident and forward the letter to Supt. Vickers for review by the board.

Tolliver said the board and coach "must respond to all parts of the community" in actions taken by the school administrators and coaches.

It was said that the Venice basketball team currently is playing with mostly freshmen

Water outdoor plants in winter and summer

Brush the snow off your garden hose, chip the ice away from outside water hookups and get out your warm winter gloves. It's time to water your landscape plants.

Water plants in the winter? Definitely, says a plant and soil science specialist, Raymond Maleike, assistant professor in the SIUC School of Agriculture. Lack of sufficient water in the winter poses a serious threat to most evergreen landscape plants. Outside plants usually get well watered during the heat and drought of summer, but few people consider watering them and sophomores on the varsity roster.

once or twice during the winter. Cold temperatures and drying winds cause the plants to dry out, he explains.

"Quite often, the surface roots of foundation and lawn plants are partially or entirely frozen soil."

"Evergreens (particularly broadleaves) and deciduous plants lose water through their leaves and stems in the winter. When roots are frozen, they can't take up any water and the tops continue to lose water, particularly under the influence of drying winter winds."

"The net result," Maleike says, "is that a large deficit is built up in the plant, causing the top and roots to get extremely dry. Shallow-rooted broadleaf evergreens such as rhododendron, azaleas, evergreen euonymus and Japanese, Chinese and American holly are more susceptible to this drying effect."

"Southern Illinois is in the midst of a severe drought, so it is especially important to water landscape plants now to keep them healthy. Many diseases and insect problems can be avoided in the spring and summer season by caring for the plants now."

"To protect landscape plants this winter, first water the plants thoroughly on days when temperatures are above freezing to prevent icing in the hose. Deeper roots may take up this water, causing a more favorable water balance in the plant."

"Second, use a mulch. Surface applied mulches not only cut down on soil evaporation but also act as an insulator. Mulching materials take many forms, and almost any material that doesn't mat down and allows water to penetrate can be used."

"Common mulches include shredded leaves — usually ones run through a rotary mower sawdust, wood chips, tree bark and peat moss."

"Lawn clippings tend to mat down and, if used, should be mixed with equal portions of some other material, such as sawdust or shredded leaves."

"If a particular type of mulch appears unsightly, it can always be covered with a layer of more aesthetically appealing mulch such as wood chips or bark.

"Remember that healthy plants are much less susceptible to insects and diseases, and winter watering and mulching are important to the health of a landscape plant."

Richmond given 50 to 100 years in murder case

Hubert David Richmond, 38, of 2137 Cleveland Blvd., was sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville Thursday to serve 50 to 100 years in prison for the murder of Miss Theresa Kichler, 76, of 2217 Grand Ave., in her home Aug. 28.

Circuit Judge William Beatty also sentenced Richmond to serve six and two-thirds to 20 years in prison for arson and six and two-thirds to 20 years in prison for burglary, both of Miss Kichler's home.

Richmond is to serve the burglary term first, followed by the consecutive murder and arson terms.

During sentencing, Judge Beatty said he did not view Richmond as "a hardened criminal" but as a person with a state of mind dangerous enough to society that he should be incarcerated or institutionalized for the rest of his life.

Beatty said he hopes the Illinois Department of Corrections will interpret his sentences to mean Richmond should not be considered for parole for the rest of his life.

Neither the prosecution nor the defense offered any evidence during the sentencing hearing, which consisted primarily of Judge Beatty's comments and the pronouncing of the sentence.

Richmond was returned to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville awaiting selection by the Department of Corrections of a facility where he is to be held.

Richmond was found guilty by a jury Dec. 9 of the three charges, which alleged he broke into Miss Kichler's home, struck her several times with a blunt object, knocking her unconscious, and then set fire in two places in her home.

She died of smoke inhalation with a broken skull, burns to 75 per cent of her body and dust in her lungs being listed as contributing factors by a coroner's jury.

Richmond was arrested Sept. 7 following a lengthy investigation by Granite City police and the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Major Case Squad.

Roy M. Grover, 75, of Rural Route Two, Box 965, Granite City, Ill. for one year, died at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient for two days.

He retired in 1960 from the Granite City Army Installation after 12 years of service.

Born in Blair, Neb., Mr. Grover resided in this area 25 years.

Hearing Tuesday on rule changes for election fund

Eleven public hearings on suggested revisions to the State Board of Elections campaign financing rules began last week in various parts of the state, it was announced by Franklin J. Lunding Jr., chairman. One is set for 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Illinois Room, SIUE University Center.

"The purpose of the hearings," Lunding said "is to solicit statewide commentary from any persons and organizations affected by the Campaign Financing Act."

The suggested revisions, distributed throughout Illinois, are tentative proposals. The board's special project committee, which compiled the suggestions, has made no recommendations concerning them.

"The State Board of Elections has not made any determination of the validity of the suggestions contained in the proposed drafts," Lunding said.

The purpose of the public hearings and the preparation of the drafts, both the narrow and broad interpretations, are to solicit public comment," he stressed.

"We will be most receptive to any requests for recognition at these hearings," he added. "We will also be pleased to receive any written commentary."

Levee budget hearing set

The Metro-East Sanitary District has scheduled a public hearing at 10 a.m. Feb. 28 to consider a 1978 fiscal budget of $2,258,125 which was given tentative approval Friday night in a meeting at the district's Granite City office.

The new budget is $260,129 less than the 1977 appropriation bill totaling $2,518,254. Most of the reduction was made in the general fund appropriation—set at $1,387,500, compared to $1,600,000 last year.

"Because the district is running about a month behind in its budget procedure, it will be early March before the district can sell anticipation warrants to finance operations. The district is now expecting problems within the next month because of a smaller tax collection than expected from St. Clair County, and the probability that it will not receive $225,000 in federal disaster funds that had been expected.

The district now has enough money to meet the Jan. 25 payroll, but does not have sufficient funds for the February salaries.

The board members also agreed to notify Kenneth J. Johnson, representing the owner of two buildings formerly occupied as the Lehman Sheet Metal, Inc., at 6601 St. Clair Ave. East St. Louis, that the district will be unable to purchase the property.

The board had planned to buy the property to relocate the present East St. Louis offices.

Mrs. Frances Trtanj dies
Mrs. Frances (Crnkovich) Trtanj, 79, of 1034 Washington Ave., Madison, a native of Ybina Lake, Austria, died at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Colomades Nursing Home.

She had been ill for six months and a resident at the nursing home for three days. Mrs. Trtanj had resided in the Quad-City area for 56 years.

Mrs. Trtanj was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and also belonged to the Croatian Fraternal Union.

Survivors include one son, Dr. Albert W. Trtanj of Granite City; two daughters, Miss Jeanette Trtanj of St. Louis and Miss Ann Trtanj of Madison; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Another son, Zelko Trtanj, died Aug. 20, 1975.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Nettie Coon, 89, dies
Mrs. Nettie Pearl Coon, 89, of 409 Kirkpatrick Homes, a 30-year resident of Granite City, died at 12:35 p.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She had been ill about two weeks and hospitalized two days.

Mrs. Coon was born in Washburn, Ill. Her husband, Walter, died in 1961.

She was a retired employee of Seidel Clothing Store, and a member of Trinity United Methodist Church and Women of the Moose, Chapter 247.

Surviving are a son, Ralph E. McWilliams of Fortuna, Calif.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ethel McWilliams of Ventura, Calif.; five grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and Mrs. Ola Nix of Granite City, a friend and companion.

Services are Monday evening. Details are given in today's obituary column.

Charge filed after accident
James Johnson, 404 Tower Lake Apt., Edwardsville, has been charged with illegal transportation of liquor and released on $15 cash bail. Police said an open beer bottle was discovered in the auto while police were investigating an accident at 20th Street and Sherman Ave., at 6:25 p.m. Thursday.

A guard at Granite City Steel reported an auto had struck a train and then allegedly left the scene. Johnson and his car was located by police at 21st Street and Sherman Ave. Johnson apparently was not injured.

$435 in cash is stolen
Authorities are investigating a burglary at the Senc Service Station, 1817 Madison Ave., in which Jimmie Bennett, son of owner Harold Bennett, reported at 6:06 a.m. Saturday that $435 in cash was taken.

Bennett said he arrived at the station at about 6 a.m. and noticed a hole in the door's window and the door unlocked.

Upon investigating, he discovered the money gone from a box which had been hidden in a restroom. A metal box containing assorted change and rolls of pennies in a cash drawer were not disturbed.

Illinois State Bar marking 100 years

Eighty-eight lawyers from 37 Illinois counties met in Springfield in January 1877 to discuss the need for a statewide association to work for the improvement of the legal profession. As a result of that two-day meeting in the circuit courtroom of the historic Sangamon County Courthouse, the Illinois State Bar Association was founded, and those 88 became the charter members.

The group currently is observing its centennial. Anthony Thornton of Shelbyville, a former justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, was elected the first president of the association, and a seven-member committee was immediately appointed to work for court reform.

Members of the committee were Judge Joseph Gillespie of Madison County, Thomas A. Boyd of Fulton County, David McCulloch of Peoria County, W. B. Cooper of Effingham County, L. L. Bond of Cook County, Judge John M. Palmer of Sangamon County and Sabine D. Puterbaugh of Peoria County. The committee moved swiftly, presenting legislation to the Illinois General Assembly in the spring of 1877.

The bill, establishing the appellate court system, was approved in June 1877 and signed into law by Governor Shelby Cullom.

Thus, the Illinois State Bar Association had embarked on its mission, stated in its charter, "to promote reform in the law (and) to facilitate the administration of justice."

Besides the need to add an appellate system to relieve the overburdened Supreme Court, other issues faced the ISBA in its early days.

One of the crucial needs of the legal profession in the late 1800s was a formal system of legal education and standards for admission to the practice of law.

From the time Illinois had become a state in 1818, admission to the bar was granted after oral examination in open court.

The study of law was conducted in law offices through a process of "reading law" and, as a result, many incompetent persons had been licensed as attorneys.

The ISBA campaign for admission standards and increased education requirements began in 1880.

It was not until 1897 that the Supreme Court adopted rules establishing a State Board of Law Examiners to administer tests to applicants and requiring a three year course of legal studies.

The ISBA, in conjunction with the Chicago Bar Association, continued to work for stricter standards for admission to the bar for many years.

In 1961, the two associations formed the Illinois Institute For Continuing Legal Education, which consists of courses for thousands of lawyers each year. Early in its history, the Illinois State Bar Association also embarked on other campaigns, such as reforming the 1870 Illinois Constitution and consolidating the Supreme Court.

At the time, there were three Supreme Courts, sitting at Ottawa, Springfield and Mt. Vernon.

Consolidation of the three courts into one court in Springfield was accomplished in 1897. Constitutional reform was attempted several times but not accomplished until the adoption of the new Illinois Constitution in 1970.

Over the years, many prominent lawyers have served as president of the association. Among them are David Davis of Bloomington, who was Abraham Lincoln's campaign manager in 1860, a former U. S. Supreme Court justice and U. S. senator; Melville W. Fuller of Chicago, who became the chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court; and Lyman Trumbull, a contemporary of Lincoln who served in the U. S. Senate from Illinois during the Civil War.

Other well-known ISBA members included Clarence S. Darrow, a crusading lawyer for social justice at the turn of the century; Darrow's law partner, Edgar Lee Masters, who was better known for his poetry, including the "Spoon River Anthology"; and Roscoe Pond, dean of Harvard Law School from 1916 to 1936.

Since its founding a hundred years ago, the Illinois State Bar Association has grown to a membership of over 20,000.

Members of the association are enrolled in 27 sections of substantive law, and 37 committees work in such areas as correctional facilities and services, fair trial-free press, the mentally disabled, professional ethics and legislation.

President of the ISBA is Francis J. Householder, who practices law with his son in Kankakee.

In June, Carole K. Bellows of Chicago will be installed as the 100th president of the association, becoming the first woman state bar president in the nation.

Miofsky-Moats wedding at Nameoki Methodist

Miss Karen G. Moats, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moats, 1531 Lindell Blvd., and Andrew J. Miofsky, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Miofsky, 3128 Harvard Place, exchanged wedding vows on Dec. 4, at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Fester performed a double ring ceremony at 5 o'clock in the evening followed by a reception held at the Croatian Home, Madison.

For her wedding, the former Miss Moats, selected a full length bouffant Chantilly lace gown designed with a Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and a tiered skirt which extended into a chapel train.

Her lace edged veil was attached to a Juliet style headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and blue daisies intermingled with baby's breath.

Miss Linda K. Moats, a sister of the bride, served as maid of honor with bridesmaids, Debbie Yelton, Kathy Radewicz and Janice Gibson, Cheryl McKenzie, cousins of the bride and Sandy Crevits, another sister.

They were dressed alike in Southern Belle style gowns created in pastel blue organza featuring high necklines, laced yokes and short puff sleeves. The full skirts were fashioned with tiny gathered tiers alternating with rows of white lace.

Angela Gibson, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a frock identical to the adult attendants.

They all held nosegays of white carnations, blue daisies and baby's breath.

The groom chose Ken Moats, a brother of the bride, as his best man.

Groomsmen and ushers included Rich Paschdag, Al Fiorentino, Ron Parente, Jim Greenwald, cousins of the groom and Dave Fraley, Frank Strochmer.

Jon Gibson, the bride's cousin, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Moats, mother of the bride, chose a long brown polyester gown worn with a corsage of blue carnations and white roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Miofsky, was attired in a light green polyester dress. Her corsage was an arrangement of pale green carnations with white roses.

A rehearsal dinner was held at Charlie's Restaurant.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School South and is employed as a teller at Colonial Bank, Granite City.

Her husband is a 1971 South High School graduate and 1976 graduate of Washington University. He is presently enrolled as a law student at Washington U. They are residing in Granite City.

After the film showing Officer Wright displayed items relating to drugs and held a discussion with the parents. Children and students were not permitted to attend the program and at the conclusion of the evening the parents agreed to have the film shown to the sixth grade students at a later date.

President Judy Kopechak opened the meeting with the PTA prayer led by Mrs. Wilma Bowen who also read the treasurer's report. Beth Bladdick submitted the secretary's report.

Room mother chairman Mrs. Judy Davis announced the annual Valentine party will be held at school on Monday, Feb. 14, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The monthly PTA board meetings will be conducted on the second Thursday of the month at 7 p.m., instead of on a Tuesday night, according to the president.

Mrs. Debra Wadford's fourth grade received the $5 attendance prize and Mrs. Kopechak and Audrey Hart won the evening prizes.

The third grade room mothers served refreshments to 60 members and guests after the meeting.

Mrs. Kopechak said the next board meeting is set for 7 p.m. on Feb. 10 and the general meeting will be held on Feb. 17, at the school.

Cloverview Club elects

Mrs. B. C. O'Neill, 2102 Poston Road, entertained the members of Cloverview Garden Club in her home last week.

Prior to the business meeting the hostess served a dessert luncheon to Mesdames William H. Bradley, Richard Branding, Charles Gandorla, James W. Himmelright, John Jenkins, George Knapp, John Lentz and Robert McCauley.

Election of officers was held and those to be installed are: President, Mrs. Edlon Melkamp; vice president, Mrs. John Jenkins; secretary, Mrs. William H. Bradley and treasurer, Mrs. James W. Himmelright.

Mrs. Bradley read the club collect and Mrs. Branding was in charge of the meeting.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. Stephen Shea, Belleville, Blue Star Memorial chairman for the contribution.

Cloverview Club made towards the project. Announcement was made of the Chicago Flower and Garden Show entitled "Floral Pollies" to be held at McCormick Place from March 26 to April 3.

The "Show and Tell" exhibit was a specimen of Lotus seed pods and Mrs. Branding displayed a large wreath of pine cones which she had made incorporating several Lotus pods.

"Invitation to Birds" was the program given by Mrs. Knapp. She stressed the need to feed our feathered friends at this season of the year and remarked that the feeders need not be elaborate, a simple one will attract the hungry birds.

For the study Mrs. Bradley read an article on the wildflower "Snow Trillium" from the Illinois Wildflower book by John Voss and Virginia S. Eilert. A discussion followed.

Mrs. Melkamp has invited the group to meet in her home, 2629 Lynch Ave. on Feb. 8.

Illinoisans

were dead indeed. Most of them probably came to Capitol Hill to pick up their inaugural tickets from their congressmen whether Democrat or Republican, party affiliation didn't matter.

Carter's inaugural, for awhile at any rate, apparently was balm for political wounds.

For example, Jim Wall of Elmhurst, Carter's Illinois campaign manager, stopped by Rep. John N. Erlenborn's office for tickets.

Wall tried to unseat Republican Erlenborn 1972. Marie Fese, also of Elmhurst, who tried the same thing last time, also stopped for tickets and a friendly chat with Erlenborn.

Rep. George M. O'Brien, Joliet Republican, was similarly gracious to John Houlihan, his opponent in 1972 and 1974.

After all, reasoned the majority of incumbent congressmen, everyone back home is a constituent, so lend a hand whenever possible.

A few took Carter literally when he said, "Y'all come, and arrived here unprepared, like the group that descended on on Illinois Republican congressman's office. "Well," announced the spokesman, "Here we are. What do we do now?"

Rep. Paul Simon, a Downstate Democrat, had no such problem. Most of his visitors had been in touch with his office well in advance.

"Surprisingly," said an aide, "there was little confusion. They'd made their hotel arrangement and seemed to know exactly what tickets we had. They did want to know if there was any charge for the tickets and if Carter would be at certain events."

Most of the tickets allocated to Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., went to Illinoisans who had written him their requests as early as last summer and fall. It depends on how the next four years fall for Pres. Carter whether he'll give the traditional Southern Farewell: "Y'all come back, now, y'heah?"

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., whose vice presidential bid was considered by Jimmy Carter, served up a quarter of beef from his Jo Daviess County farm in honor of the new president's inauguration.

The senator's wife, Nancy, prepared beef burgundy for about 30 Illinois friends invited Wednesday night to a buffet at the Foxhall Road home at Washington.

The Stevensons also held open house in the Senator's office after the swearing in Thursday for anyone dropping in from Illinois.

Before the inaugural parade, they served sliced beef, ham, rolls and white wine.

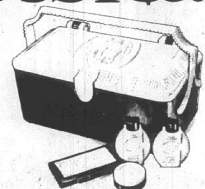

Sen. Percy gave a reception Thursday morning between 10 and 11:30, attended the ceremony with the other senators, and then returned to his office for another reception for Illinois constituents between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Senator and Mrs. Percy attended the inaugural ball for Illinoisans Thursday night at the Washington-Hilton Hotel.

Rep. and Mrs. Simon attended the inaugural ball for Illinoisans and an afternoon reception downtown. Simon's office had coffee and doughnuts for visitors after the swearing-in ceremony.

State flexible on closing of school classes

Severe weather throughout Illinois has created numerous problems for school districts. Many districts have asked for advice on what measures they may take, and what the Illinois Office of Education will accept, to meet their problems concerning school closings.

State Supt. of Schools Joseph M. Cronin reports.

"As usual, emergency days already built into the calendars that school districts have adopted should be used," he said.

"2. Vacations should be rescheduled, shortened or cancelled next," he continued.

"3. After these steps have been taken, districts may give this office—as they have in the past years—written requests for approval of less than the minimum school term under authority granted by the 'Act of God' provisions of The School Code, Section 18-12.

"To receive approval, a district must provide written documentation to the Public School Approval Section of the Illinois Office of Education which indicates that the closings were due to 'acts of God.' This documentation must be verified through the regional superintendent, who must make and approve before I can give approval."

The state office will consider as one of the occurrences meeting the criteria of an "act of God" current unusual cold weather conditions which are so severe as to make it impossible to conduct schools.

"We are facing extreme conditions of weather severity, fuel shortages and hazardous road situations in Illinois this year," Dr. Cronin noted. "I sympathize with schools, parents and children in the difficulties these conditions create. Our office will do everything possible to be reasonable and helpful in these situations."

Broadening of fiscal study group proposed

Illinois Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis on Friday urged Governor James H. Thompson to consider revising his proposal for the creation of a private study commission to evaluate the state's fiscal condition.

Bakalis said Thompson's proposal for such a body is well-intentioned but ill-conceived in its structure.

"The governor," Bakalis said, "has apparently excluded participation by those government officials selected by the taxpayers to select for them. The governor, the state comptroller, the state treasurer and others legitimately should participate in such deliberations."

"These officials by the nature of their responsibilities in the state's fiscal picture are necessary to provide a complete understanding of the entire economic condition of the state. Their exclusion signals to the people that we cannot trust our government officials to do their job."

Bakalis said that in a letter to Thompson he has urged the governor to consider his campaign proposal for the establishment of an Economic Information Commission.

He reiterated his recommendation that such a body be created consisting of the governor, comptroller, treasurer, chairman of appropriate legislative financial committees and non-governmental representatives from organized labor and the state's business and academic communities.

"The purpose of this group," Bakalis said, "would be to provide the governor, the legislature, the media and the public a consensus report on the state's fiscal outlook."

The comptroller said the proposal would go far toward minimizing "political maneuvering and misinformation which has characterized the formation of state fiscal policy in recent years."

He emphasized his belief that this group would need no staff and virtually no budget.

"The commission would merely bring together, in a structured way, people who would be doing the jobs they are supposed to do."

Bakalis said that he has expressed his desire to be helpful in solving the state's fiscal problems to Gov. Thompson. Bakalis wrote, "Let us not begin our administrations with an assumed partisan adversarial relationship. We have an obligation to the people who elected us to work together. Your support for a concept such as the Economic Information Commission can signal an important beginning step."

THEFT FROM TRUCK

An $88 rifle with a scope, a $40 tape player and a green tool box containing about $300 worth of tools were stolen from the pickup truck of John Chaplin, 2428 E. 25th St., parked at his home between 6:45 a.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday. The left wing vent window was forced open and the door was unlocked by reaching through the vent.

Madison sets date for school election

The Madison School Board Thursday night passed a resolution setting the annual school election date for Saturday, April 9.

The first day for filing petitions of candidacy is Wednesday, Feb. 23, and the last day for filing is Friday, March 18.

Petitions may be picked up at the School Board office, 1707 Fourth St., Madison, from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Three board members are to be elected.

Incumbent board members, whose terms expire, all whom have indicated they are running for re-election, are Richard Zeisset, Frank Eaves and Elvers Johnson.

Zeisset was appointed to the board in June to fill the unexpired term of Willie Walker who moved to Chicago. Eaves and Johnson are running for re-election to full terms.

Tuesday, March 22, is the last day for withdrawal of candidacy.

Two parents attended the meeting and asked how snow days are determined in regard to when school is to be held. They asked why school was dismissed at 2:10 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 13.

It was explained that school administrators confer from all three districts and make a joint decision after checking with the bus company manager to see if buses will run.

It was explained that five days are allowed for emergencies, regardless of the type, after which the school faces loss of state aid monies.

On the particular question of dismissing early Jan. 13 after the students already were in school, it was noted that on that day an ice storm was reported on radar. Administrators felt that school needed to be dismissed early should the ice storm move in and create a danger to the children.

A lengthy discussion was held by board members on just what should constitute an emergency day.

In other business the board approved the low bid of $196 for carpeting the high school office from Friedman Hardware. Authorized Charles Siegle to attend a track clinic in St. Louis and authorized Mrs. Evelyn Holt to seek more bids on a meat chopper.

Nameoki Township 'leadership' will be leading it downhill unless court delay is avoided and sewer system is installed

At the risk of overdramatization, many are convinced that Madison County's Special Service Area One sanitary sewer program has placed the Quad-City community at the crossroads — a point from which progress and prosperity can be achieved, or the opposite path of decline and decay could be followed.

If ever an issue held a dagger at the throat of a community's future, it is the court attempt to prevent sewer installation by delaying the construction and financing package until it "self-destructs" in a few months.

Not only has the issue insinuated itself into politics, but its negative "leaders" apparently are being considered a prominent place in the election tug-of-war this spring over who is to fill Nameoki Township offices.

The occupancy of elective office traditionally has been thought of as a leadership role. But leadership usually is regarded as leading in the right direction, and in a fashion that right-thinking, constructive people are persuaded in a positive way to want to follow. It involves calling on people to give of their best, not catering to their worst instincts.

One of the ways politics has been injected into the campaign is the question of whether township residents have been told the truth or the whole truth at various stages of the long effort to obtain sewers.

But far more important than this point, and far more important than the political future of any and all officials or would-be officials, is the question of whether the sewer program can be kept intact and implemented this year.

There was a shift from revenue bond financing to general obligation bonds after what some citizens feel was a promise to go the revenue route.

Regardless of what was said, revenue bonds are impossible for three reasons: 1. They are not a part of the "package," which must be carried out without change or abandonment. 2. Revenue bonds are not acceptable to bond buyers because of the lack of collection enforcement mechanism, such as cutting off non-payers' water supply if the sewer program was being administered by a water district, which it is not. 3. The cost of the revenue bond principal and interest would be prohibitive.

It is said that so many spurious "issues" have been accepted by so many persons as valid considerations.

For example, transferring the project from Madison County sponsorship to any other administration — the new Metro sanitary district or another governmental entity — is a pointless proposal because it is not merely a theoretical debate. It is a real, living project, and one that will die unless it is implemented soon without change.

Are general obligation bonds fair, since the cost will vary according to one's assessment? Those trying to kill the project have gotten a lot of mileage out of this issue. We are not so sure they are right, even on the merits of their contention of unfairness; but this isn't a "debating club." The point cannot be pursued theoretically with prolonged discussion.

GO financing is essential. Those who say "I'm for sewers but against the financing method" aren't in the ultimate sense really saying that. The practical effect is that to be against the sewer financing is to be against obtaining sewers at all.

A sewer critic had distributed a message to County Board members and the public in which he suggests basic changes. Even if these were possible, which they are not, the time involved would defeat the project.

The mimeographed statement also makes an interesting assertion that officials lacked sufficient time to think and act on the sewer program. As engineers and others involved in the planning know, the undertakings have required many years to arrive at the current point in which it can be implemented if the court impediment is overcome. It is not a case of too little time, but too much time passing.

Officials and prospective officials who say they still are uncertain about whether to support the program are displaying something other than leadership qualities. Facts have been laid bare about the costs involved, but there is no way to pinpoint precise yearly costs. A key thing to keep in mind is that the costs will be only whatever they actually are. There can be no harm or an allegation of anything but economical, prudent planning.

And the soundness of the planning was borne out in 1976 when construction bids proved to be "on target" — at the amounts that planners had projected as reasonable and likely. How much bond interest would cost must await the actual sale of bonds, currently blocked by the appeal of the Circuit Court's finding that the sewer planning has been done properly.

Regardless of who happens to be elected in April, Nameoki Township's future is going to be much darker if a couple of dissenters are allowed to thwart the will of the majority, not by the merits or non-merits of their argument but by the time-consuming nature of our judicial processes.

Justice delayed is justice denied, and it is hard to find much charitable to say about the delays, particularly when they hope to use the Nameoki Township election as an affirmation of the stand they are taking. "Rights" are apparently unlimited in this best of all worlds in which anybody can sue anybody and keep the case alive indefinitely by appealing well-thought-out court decisions.

But we wonder whether any Nameoki Township resident has the "right" to not have sewers. With such moisture-saturated ground in non-drought periods, effluent from one parcel of property can harm neighboring property.

The report of the anti-sewer arguments appeal to base feelings of greed, fear of the unknown, and selfish disregard for others' health and well-being. Such arguments are not only reprehensible in catering to the worst that is in each person, but they are also deceptive.

To "save" a dollar by not having sewers has proven much costlier to many families and communities in various parts of the nation. To block sewers when there is 3-for-1 grant financial help could lead to court-ordered sewers here after the grant funds are lost, with Nameoki and its residents property owners shouldering the cost.

We would like to see all participants in the April election put aside partisanship and personal considerations, and do all they can to achieve sewers as quickly as possible because delaying the sewer program for whatever reason will block it.

Those receiving political help from the individuals who are keeping the destructive court appeal alive ought to persuade those individuals to withdraw the appeal. The price of being a leader unavoidably includes demonstrating the ability to pass some of the tests of leadership.

The House findings and the Freedom House report pose a dilemma for Washington. President Carter has pledged to use "the various forms of economic and political pressure" to promote "basic global standards of human rights."

Rhetoric is one thing and the real world

Where jobs come from

By RICHARD L. EESHER

U.S. Chamber of Commerce
"Creating jobs" is a topic much in the news these days. Various special-interest groups are pressuring President Carter to launch a massive federal employment program of some sort.

High levels of unemployment are not in anybody's best interest. But the way the problem is tackled is of critical importance.

Before you can create a job, you have to know how jobs are created. That seems obvious enough. Nevertheless, it's positively amazing how many otherwise intelligent proponents of federal jobs programs seem to have overlooked the existence of this rather basic knowledge.

Jobs are created by investment. If you want to open a store, for example, you need a lot of start-up money—money for such things as rent, stock, and advertising and pay for your staff until the cash starts coming in.

The same principle applies to heavy industry, only more so. Big industrial processes require big, expensive machines. On the average, it takes $40,000 today to create one blue-collar job.

Where does this investment money come from? Ultimately, from savings. Yours, if your store is small and your bank account large.

On a somewhat larger scale, the money may be borrowed from a bank. Then, the savings of many of the bank's depositors will be involved.

Or, savings may be borrowed directly from individuals through the sale to them of stocks or bonds.

And, finally, a going concern may pay for diversification or expansion with its own savings, usually called "retained earnings."

If you should people risk their savings in this job-creating process? To earn a profit on their investment, of course.

Which means that the product or service offered must be sufficiently attractive to the consumer. That, in a nutshell, is the story of our economy.

From it, you can deduce that job creation requires both consumer demand and adequate savings to finance the means of meeting that demand.

Now, let's take a look at that mythical federal product: "Instant jobs" (just add money and stir).

The first thing we can tell about such jobs is that they will be producing something for which there is little individual consumer demand—otherwise, the private economy would already have created them.

The next thing we can tell about the "instant jobs" is that they will like all jobs—require investment.

But where will the money come from? The government doesn't have any savings except on those increasingly rare occasions when there is a budget surplus.

There are only two ways for the government to get the money: Higher taxes or borrowing.

Now consider the effect of those two alternatives on private job-creation. Higher taxes discourage savings. And government borrowing reduces the amount of savings available for private borrowing.

Therefore, in the process of creating government jobs, the government reduces the ability of the private sector to create private jobs.

Worse yet, the jobs created in the private sector are those for which there is a genuine demand, whereas the jobs created by government to "cure" unemployment are likely to be more of a drag on the economy than a stimulus.

A healthy private sector, then, is the best source of new jobs. To get that, we need a few less government programs, not a few more.

It's a fascinating subject, and an important one, but a little hard to cover in one short column.

If you'd like to know more, we have an informative booklet titled "Who Is the Real Employer?" It was written for us by William H. Peterson, an economist from Campbell College, N.C.

Many helping to obtain trade zone

To the Editor:

I recently returned to the office after a brief period of hospitalization during the holidays. Fortunately, I'm getting along well and recovering nicely.

The above circumstances have caused a delay in my responding to your editorial of Jan. 3 regarding the Tri-City Regional Port District and the establishment of a foreign trade zone in connection with operation of the Port District.

I share your enthusiasm for this development and also share your feelings that establishment of a foreign trade zone in the Granite City area port district does hold great promise for the district and the St. Louis Metropolitan area.

I've had an opportunity to observe this development over the years. My initial involvement was as an employee of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development when foreign trade zone legislation was originally before the Illinois General Assembly.

More recently, my observation has been of a direct nature as an employee of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

As an Illinois resident and a former public official in Illinois, it has been gratifying for me to see the diligent effort made to see the legislation for the foreign trade zone at the Tri-City Regional Port District.

RCGA, as you know, does have personnel of specialized talents and experience in such fields as foreign trade and economic development. These individuals have been utilized for the advantage of the Tri-City Regional Port District and the eventual establishment of a foreign trade zone.

I believe the foreign trade zone establishment in Granite City is an example of what RCGA can and does do for the entire St. Louis metropolitan area.

An organization such as ours can maintain the type of specialized personnel required to perform effectively on such projects as the one recently completed in Granite City.

Regards candidates as well qualified

To the Editor:

Letters appearing in recent issues from the supervisor of Nameoki Township and the followup by Mr. Biggs, husband of the supervisor's General Assistance bookkeeper, tried to indicate that the only person who has performed his job during the past eight years was the supervisor.

The letters appeared to be a test of the readers' intelligence, although they weren't evidently designed for that purpose. He indicated that only one auditor—the only other incumbent on his ticket—has been in implementing various programs the past eight years and the others have only opposed and criticized.

If that were true, with a five-man board and only one other person voting with him, none of his programs would have been implemented.

The board has always supported any proposal that was good for the people.

He indicated lack of cooperation from the highway commission, but that is far from the truth. Mr. Bell has done everything humanly possible to cooperate with him and promote harmony between the two units of government.

Anyone who reads the newspaper knows that the supervisor has unmercifully and unjustly criticized the highway commissioner, and highway commissioners "believe" he has continued to do his job and serve the people and not bother them with the internal problems he has had to live with.

The supervisor mentions that Town Clerk Douglas Teeter has only seen his office staff twice during the last four years. His office staff consists of one secretary-bookkeeper.

If they only saw each other during township meetings, which they do, they would meet approximately 100 times during the past four years.

The town clerk and his secretary have daily conversations, keeping each other apprised of all matters concerning the responsibilities of the town clerk.

In addition, the town clerk spends countless hours during the evening and weekends in the conduct of township business.

Anyone who has ever attended a township meeting cannot help but be impressed by his efficient business-like preparation and conduct.

The supervisor stated that the township assessor must equalize assessments or the state will apply a multiplier to all real estate within those units of government not complying.

Many communities received multipliers amounting to as high as 74 per cent increase.

Because Macies did his job, Nameoki Township did comply with the state guidelines and the assessment ratio was approximately one per cent above the minimum requirement.

According to the Madison County supervisor, the assessments, Nameoki Township is within a good range. Richard Peck has served well as tax collector of Nameoki Township.

He is a diligent and dedicated township official and has attained an enviable reputation of promptly collecting and distributing tax monies to the township and other taxing agencies, thereby eliminating the need to borrow funds unnecessarily.

The United for Progress team is just what the name implies, a group of men united for the purpose of providing the best government available for the people and working together in harmony.

Norman Hessler and Lee Adams will continue to provide stability, experience and leadership to the board and Joe Boyer and Jerry Adams will continue new ideas and a fresh approach to township government.

Harold Davis is well qualified, highly respected and a capable administrator.

As township supervisor, he will be sensitive to the needs of the people, and his experience of serving in various capacities on the School Board, president of the Long Lake Fire Protection District and various other civic functions has adequately prepared him for the responsibilities of this office.

He will provide the necessary leadership and at the same time encourage and respect the thoughts and ideas of all the members of the board.

Religion can transform one's life

To the Editor:

I have put quite a few letters in the paper. But I really haven't put the main subject, and that is, "Try Jesus."

I found out that you are not really enjoying life until you let Jesus Christ come into your heart.

People are trying and have tried everything and everybody but Jesus. He is the answer to everything and all our problems.

Regardless of who you are or what you have done in life, good or bad, Jesus still loves you.

Christ is waiting to bless your soul right now.

It would be beautiful to start the new year off by letting Jesus come into your life.

It's time for us to speak for Jesus, anywhere and everywhere we go, and let the world know that Jesus is the Savior of the world.

Just think—if everybody had Jesus, what a wonderful world this would be!

The reason I am writing this is because I have tried Jesus.

Press-Record is telling it like it is

To the Editor:

It's about time some of the press gave fair coverage to the Sadowski case.

I attended the rally held at the Polish Hall in Madison on Jan. 13. I know how many persons were there.

I have seen reports in other papers saying the crowd numbered only about a hundred. Your panoramic picture of the crowd would easily depict that error.

Thanks much for your fair and accurate coverage of the United Steelworkers Sadowski rally. Our hats are off to Gary Schneider for a job well done.

We steelworkers are sick and tired of press distortion of the Sadowski case. We would like you to know that we think you did it like it was.

Would ERA expand federal power?

To the Editor:

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment doesn't do it! Look out!

There's a book inside the bait. The first article at the very least will open up a "Pandora's box" of legal complications.

It will also strike at the very foundation of our society—the family.

The second article speaks loud and clear. More federal power is being thrust upon us. More loss of freedom.

Constitutional law supersedes years after the date of ratification. Sounds good, doesn't it? Look out!

There's a book inside the bait. The first article at the very least will open up a "Pandora's box" of legal complications.

It will also strike at the very foundation of our society—the family.

The second article speaks loud and clear. More federal power is being thrust upon us. More loss of freedom.

Constitutional law supersedes state law. The government would have jurisdiction over marriage and divorce laws, child custody and all laws involving men and women.

Section III says the full impact of ERA will not be evident until two years after passage. We'll take my word for it. Go to the experts in constitutional law who have thoroughly studied the ERA, which has also passed the "Legality, Responsibility Amendment."

Less than fifth of world's population is living in freedom

Press-Record Washington Bureau — Freedom, Abraham Lincoln said, is indivisible: you cannot split it up and give some to one group and none to another. If blacks can be enslaved today, he said, whites can be tomorrow; thus all must be free or none will be.

Freedom in the United States has progressed in the last century. But the world is far from free.

Freedom House, a nonpartisan organization based in New York, estimates that less than one in five persons on earth today has liberty.

According to Freedom House: 789 million persons, 42 nations and 19 territories and dependencies can be considered free. That is 19.6 per cent of the world population.

—1.7 billion persons in 68 nations and three dependencies are classified as not free. This is 43.9 per cent — nearly half of the world's population.

—1.4 billion, or 36.4 per cent, live in 49 nations and 31 dependencies that are "partly free."

Altogether, Freedom House said, its showing for liberty is the worst since it began rating nations in 1972 on the basis of political and personal rights.

An equally depressing report to Congress on six nations receiving U.S. foreign aid commitments to "to" to Americans take for granted are rare in other parts of the world.

The report, submitted by the House International Relations Committee, found that Argentina, Haiti, Indonesia, Iran, Peru and the Philippines are violating human rights in varying degrees.

Neville Martinelli, a committee member, believes that these countries should continue to receive U.S. aid in spite of their suppressions of rights.

The six countries were an initial test of compliance with a new congressional law mandating such reports. Requirements for human rights reports were stiffened in the new foreign aid bill passed by the last Congress.

The House findings and the Freedom House report pose a dilemma for Washington. President Carter has pledged to use "the various forms of economic and political pressure" to promote "basic global standards of human rights."

Rhetoric is one thing and the real world

"Hey-aren't you guys flying south this year?"

is another. Much of the globe is "not free" by any standards.

For example, in all of Latin America only Costa Rica, Colombia and Venezuela are considered free by Freedom House. In Africa, only one nation — Botswana — achieves that distinction.

Suppression of human rights is distasteful to Americans, and it goes against our grain to give foreign aid to countries that suppress political and civil liberties.

However, the annual Freedom House study reminds us that our world would be very small indeed if all countries that do not measure up to ideal standards were cut off from our assistance.

Our foreign aid should be dispensed on basis of our national interest, including aid to the six countries sampled by the House International Relations Committee.

At the same time, we must do all that is pragmatically possible to see that all that Freedom House can improve its report next year.

Letter from Washington

by Senator Charles H. Percy

One of the top priorities facing the new Congress and the Carter Administration is the need to improve services for millions of older Americans.

Elderly citizens have the same hopes and desires as other citizens. They want incomes free of crushing inflation and adequate health care and housing they can afford. But for millions of senior citizens, it is far more difficult to meet these needs than it is for younger persons.

Nutrition is one of the elderly's most pressing needs. Without sufficient diets, older citizens are more prone to sickness. If they go without nutritious food for long periods of time, they may be hospitalized or forced to enter institutions. Some may never return to their homes, families and friends.

There are many reasons why the homebound elderly often have inadequate diets. These reasons include insufficient incomes, inadequate information about proper nutrition, limited mobility and feelings of rejection that discourage proper eating. We could do far more than we are doing to aid these homebound citizens. Specifically, we could provide nutritious meals to millions of older Americans through a national Meals-on-Wheels program.

As a member of the Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, I will be working in the 96th Congress to help advance legislation to make this plan a reality. The rewards in human terms would far outweigh the cost of such a program.

A recent Committee report showed that an $80 million annual investment in such a program would save between $250 and $500 million a year beyond the cost of the program. The savings would be realized because many elderly Americans would be able to stay in their homes, thus avoiding the prohibitive costs of living in institutions.

This is the kind of program that makes sense. It helps the people who need assistance most and saves tax dollars at the same time.

NUTRITION AND YOUR TEETH

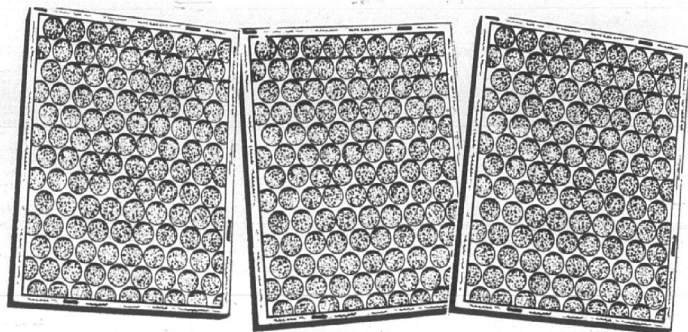

Like the rest of your body, your teeth and gums need a well-balanced diet to stay healthy, according to the American Dental Association. Nutritionists agree. But there's one thing to watch for - sticky sweets.

Frequent eating of food containing sugar causes the sticky film called dental plaque to form faster, dentists say. Bacteria in the plaque use sugar to form acid attacks the enamel surface of your teeth for about half an hour.

SO WHAT DOES ONE DO?
One secret is in knowing what snacks are likely to give you trouble and to avoid them. Read the labels on the food you buy and know that if sugar is listed as having been added it may contribute to dental decay.

A more positive approach, however, is to realize that snacks are probably your greatest risk, particularly because people are less likely to brush their teeth after snacking.

So here's a list of some acceptable snacks with respect to guarding the health of your teeth and gums. They are considered by dental authorities to be "
